COUNCIL ACTS FOR TRUSTEES

Technical-High School Referendum Will Be Put to Rate-payers of City

Additional Class Rooms Required and Present Plan the Cheapest, Trustees State

The Technical High School By-law goes again to the people. The City Council last night took the action requested of it by the City School Trustees, and formally disapproved of the extraordinary vote of $145,000 from revenue. This was the legal means prerequisite to the placing of a referendum on the school loan before rate-payers of the city.

While in its official action the council confined itself to doing as the school board requested, individual aldermen said they would have gone further and would have had the council endorse the plan, Aldermen E. A. C. Dewar moved to follow the suggestion of the city solicitor, H. B. Pringle, that the council endorse the extraordinary estimate, subject to the approval of the people. Other aldermen would have agreed.

The council was not called on to go further than to submit the referendum at the request and on the responsibility of the trustees, commented Mayor Herbert Hancock, and this course was taken. No date was mentioned for the referendum, but it is assumed that it will be put in the immediate future.

Prince of Wales Makes Tour of Coal Districts

Visits Miners in North of England, Where There Is Much Unemployment

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Eng., Jan. 29.—The Prince of Wales to-day began a personal inspection of the distressed coal mining regions of the North of England. Bleak weather, with an early snow turning into a miserable cold rain, accentuated the conditions the heir to the throne found in numerous cottages lined in dreary rows between slag heaps.

The Prince came up from London on the night express. He had a brief chat with the Lord Mayor of Newcastle. Then he donned two overcoats and entered an automobile for a chilly ride to the mining villages.

The car went through the narrow streets of the town of Blaydon without attracting attention until it stopped at the labor exchange.

Sad-faced women, clutching to their breasts war babies wrapped in swaddling clothes, gazed after the Prince as he passed. He stood at the exchange looking at the men who stood about the exchange seeking employment more from habit than from the hope of getting it.

HOPE FOR AID

"God bless him," murmured men and women who for months upon months had been blessed only with want and hunger. "Maybe he will be able to help us."

TAGORE TO COME HERE IN APRIL

Famous Indian Savant to Attend Education Conference

Sir Rabindranath Tagore, world-renowned Bengali poet and philosopher, has accepted the invitation of the National Council of Education to attend the eighth annual conference on "Education and Leisure," which is to be held in Victoria on April 19 and 20 and in Vancouver from April 21 to 23, according to word received by Major F. J. Ney, organizing secretary.

Tagore was born in 1861, the son of Maharaja Debendra Nath Tagore, and in his youth lived at Calcutta, where he took his degree of Doctor of Literature at the University of Calcutta. At the age of twenty-four he went to the country to take charge of his father's estate, and while there wrote many of the works for which he has become world famous. At the age of forty he founded a school at Santiniketan, Bolpur, Bengal, which later developed into an international institution, called "Visva-Bharati," and this has been his life-work ever since.

This great savant rarely leaves his native India, and his coming to Victoria is all the more a matter of congratulation to the National Council of Education. It is probable that he will speak on "The Mysticism of the East" while here.

In 1912 Tagore visited England and translated some of his Bengali works into English, and in the following year he was awarded the coveted Nobel prize for literature. He has written about thirty poetical works and about thirty prose works, including novels, short stories, essays, sermons and dramas.

NEW YORK HONORS RESCUERS OF CREW OF STEAMER FLORIDA

New York, Jan. 29.—The rescuers of the crew of the Italian freighter Florida to-day had $12,000 as a material reward for their heroism. The fund was raised for the men of the crew of the liner America through public subscriptions by Paul Block, newspaper publisher.

When Capt. George Fried and men of the liner America were presented by Mayor J. J. Walker with illuminated scrolls at the City Hall here yesterday Chief Officer Manning, who commanded the Florida, said: "I only did my duty the best I knew how."

GRAIN SHIPMENT TEST IS PLANNED

Courts to Rule on Canadian Growers' Right to Choose Grain Destination

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—A test case to determine the right of grain producers to select the destination of their grain will be made following a recommendation of the Board of Grain Commissioners received by Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Certain difficulties have arisen between the wheat pools and the producers, and also between the pools and the grain trade in general with respect to this question. The Board of Grain Commissioners recently conducted an exhaustive inquiry into it and from its investigation has recommended the decision to recommend the institution of a test case.

APPROVAL WANTED

Approval of the board's recommendation was wired to L. H. Boyd, M.C., chairman of the commission, today. In his telegram, Mr. Malcolm instructed the board should take the stand that no contract between the pools and the grain trade should deprive the producer of his right to select the destination of his produce. Parliament, he said, had amended the law to assure the producers this right. The Government, he said, approved the suggestion of the board that it bear the expense of a court action "to sustain the Grain Act in this regard."

PLANS MADE IN LONDON FOR CANADIAN RADIO PROGRAMMES

London, Jan. 29 (By George Hamilton, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press).—Canadian radio fans may soon have the opportunity of tuning in on London for one hour each day. Under the chairmanship of Sir Ronald Aird, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Canadian Radio Commission, is now visiting this country, investigating broadcasting. One of the questions being discussed with the British Broadcasting Commission is whether by the use of a short wave it would be possible to a programme of the British Commission to Canada for an hour a day.

Victoria Stands United In Plea For Ocean Highway

In no other project brought before the Victoria Chamber of Commerce since it was organized has there been such unanimity and enthusiasm as for the West Coast Road, recently rechristened the Ocean Highway. The four Victoria members in the Provincial House advocated the West Coast road in their election speeches and, it is understood, will repeat their arguments in favor of it in their speeches during the debate on the speech from the Throne, and champion it through the present session Attorney-General Pooley recently pointed out that he might be called "The Father of the Road" through his advocacy of it before the war.

ALL BEHIND IT.
A review of the campaign for the road started years ago, shows that scores of organizations in Victoria have endorsed it. Men of all shades of opinion have got behind it. Business men, financiers, professional men and industrialists have advocated it with a greater force than any proposal advanced for years.

Opinions on the project show that it is not in the realm of politics; that it is a project which Victoria is solidly behind as one for the benefit of Vancouver Island, Victoria and the whole of British Columbia.

MAYOR ANSCOMB

Mayor Herbert Anscomb this morning expressed an opinion on the subject. "There is no doubt the development of industries on the West Coast of Vancouver Island could be brought about by the construction of a road," he said. "It would prove a great asset not only in making it possible to take advantage of the resources there but from a tourist point of view."

P. B. Fowler, president of the Chamber this morning said: "It is only necessary to look at a map understandingly to see how vital is the West Coast Road or Ocean Highway to Victoria. Much of our old hinter-

ACCUSED IS TAKEN ILL ON STAND

Case Against Dr. James McLeod Is Again Adjourned in City Court

Defence Evidence Heard This Morning in Medical Act Prosecution

When the accused broke down in the witness box and was forced to leave owing to illness, an adjournment in the case of Dr. James McLeod, charged with practicing medicine while not being registered, was forced in City Court this morning. The continuation of the hearing was set for next Tuesday.

H. A. Robertson, K.C., prosecution counsel, had just commenced examination of the accused when the latter said he felt ill and asked for a glass of water. He then left the witness box, and when H. A. Beckwith, defence counsel, pointed out that Dr. McLeod was in a state of collapse, the case was adjourned for half an hour.

NOT FIT TO CONTINUE

When the court reassembled Mr. Beckwith said counsel had arranged for an adjournment for one week as the accused was not in fit condition to again go on the stand.

CHARGE AMENDED

Prior to the commencement of the defence case the information against McLeod was amended by Mr. Robertson, who inserted the words "for gain" in the charge.

The claim was made yesterday by Mr. Beckwith that there was no charge against the accused, since these words were not included in the information.

Dr. Ernest A. Hall was the first witness called by the defence.

EIGHT-INCH SNOWFALL IS CITY'S MARK

Colder Weather Predicted By Supt. Denison For Next Twenty-four Hours

More Snow May Fall, But Not If Temperature Hangs Around Twelve Above

"Clear and colder" was the prediction to-day of F. Napier Denison, superintendent of Gonzales Observatory, for the coming twenty-four hours.

With the mercury dropping slowly from a maximum of twenty-three degrees registered at 5 o'clock this morning, there was every possibility that by this evening it would be down to twelve or fourteen degrees above zero, said Mr. Denison.

During the morning it went down to nineteen degrees but was up to twenty at noon.

GENERAL COLD

The cold wave has become general now over the Pacific slope as far south as the southern part of the State of Oregon, according to Mr. Denison. The temperature in Portland this morning was fourteen above, Vancouver's minimum was twelve degrees, while at Kamloops eighteen below.

Approximately four inches of snow fell here since 5 o'clock last night and at noon to-day, a total of eight inches had been recorded. In many sections of the city the wind blew the snow into drifts several feet deep.

Across the Straits at Port Angeles, the effect of the cold spell is being felt severely, according to Mr. Denison, there being seven inches of snow there at 8 a.m. to-day.

Whether or not there will be a continued snowfall here depends upon the temperature. The indications at present are that the mercury will drop in which case there may be little or no more snow, if, however, the temperature hovers around the twenty degree mark, there will probably be a continuance of the snowfall.

POOLEY FIRM ON CENSORSHIP

Turns Theatre Men Down Flatly on Appeal For Amendments to Bill

His bill for a censorship of moving picture advertising will stand exactly as he drafted it, Attorney-General Pooley emphatically told a delegation representing moving picture theatres and picture exchanges of British Columbia who waited upon him this morning.

Mr. Pooley refused point blank, according to R. Rowe Holland and J. Muir, prominent theatre men of British Columbia, to make any amendments to the bill.

The delegates pointed out to him that the attracting of patrons to a theatre was a business which had been built up through years of experience and not only in the shows that were offered, but in the manner in which they were announced to the public. Had to be satisfied. In addition to the censorship that the theatre men established, the newspapers in addition exercised a strict censorship over their advertising columns.

"You now intend to displace this dual control of advertising by some forty-five-dollar-a-week clerk," the delegation told the Attorney-General. His reply was to the effect that the bill would be put through the Legislature as it was at present drafted.

New P.G.E. Road Plan Approved

West Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Final adoption of the agreement whereby the British Columbia Government and the P.G.E. Railway Company grant to the municipality $248,000 for a road and bridge construction in lieu of the daily train service was voted by the West Vancouver council last night. The agreement will be sent to Victoria Wednesday for final adoption by the Government.

B.C. PLANS TO UNLOAD LOANS TO INDUSTRIES

Government Will Get Out of Commitments as Rapidly as Possible, Members Hear

Public Accounts Committee Starts Annual Investigation of Department

The policy of the Provincial Government will be to unload all its industrial loans as rapidly as possible without injuring any business. This was indicated to-day when the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature started on its annual investigation of the Industries Department.

"My idea," said George A. Walkem, chairman of the committee, "is not to shut down any business, but I would like to see the industries which are in good position and which have loans from the Government, secure money from somewhere else and let the Government out."

"We are agreed on that," said A. M. Manson, head of the Liberal representation on the committee.

Mr. Walkem added that the Government had no business to "nurse" highly competitive industries, when other industries of a similar kind, without Government loans, were having a hard time to finance.

CLEANING UP NOW

Colonel D. B. Martyn, Deputy Minister of Industries, explained that the Government was in the process of "cleaning up" its loans to industries of this class.

"Many of these more successful industries assisted by the Government could get money by floating securities to private investors and pay off the Government," Mr. Martyn explained.

The sooner the Government gets out of the loaning business the better, Mr. Manson declared.

While the committee reserved for a further hearing figures on the total results of the Industries Department's operations, Colonel Martyn supplied the information that twenty-five loans had been paid up in full and $100,000 had been written off as loss in the total amount loaned so far.

The committee questioned Colonel Martyn in great detail on each of the department's loans and secured exhaustive figures on them. In some cases, Colonel Martyn admitted that there would be losses, while in many others he reported that the Government would get back all its advances and that the industries established were making success and employing substantial numbers of men.

The committee will proceed with its inquiry into the Industries Department tomorrow when it will secure from Colonel Martyn a statement showing the net results of the Government's industrial loans.

When Mr. Walkem asked members of the committee to-day if they wanted anything else brought before them for investigation there were no suggestions and so far the committee's programme related entirely to the Industries Department.

AID IS TAKEN TO DISABLED SHIP

Washington, Jan. 29.—The captain of the United States coast-guard cutter Tampa advised coast-guard headquarters here to-day that his vessel had reached the reported position of the disabled British steamship Silver Maple this morning, but found the ship had drifted eighty-five miles southeast. He said it hoped to pick up the vessel within a few hours.

COAL VESSEL MISSING

Boston, Jan. 29.—With the United States coast-guard cutter Tampa now in the vicinity of the disabled British freighter Silver Maple and the position of the ship improved by the abating gale, anxiety in maritime circles to-day centred on two other craft, hope for one of which was gradually being abandoned.

News from St. John's, Nfld., that the coal laden steamship George Cochrane was still unreported after leaving Sydney, N.S., a week ago was causing disquiet. There was believed to be a possibility it might be in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

On the other hand, shipping men saw little hope that the steam trawler Seine, more than a week overdue at Groton, Conn., could have remained afloat. The trawler, with a score of hands aboard, was last seen at the Georges Bank January 13.

The Tampa was expected to be in a position to render aid to the Silver Maple before noon.

SAYS REBELLION IN SPAIN CRUSHED

PREMIER PRIMO DE RIVERA

Madrid, Jan. 29.—Premier Primo de Rivera issued a statement this afternoon declaring another rebellion in Spain had been frustrated.

The Premier, continuing, said Spain was quiet, except at Ciudad Real, where a regiment of field artillery in the local garrison had mutinied and placed guns in the street. Rail traffic was interrupted and the barracks of the Civil Guards seized.

Measures had been taken to quell the rebellious regiment, the Premier stated.

Stern measures would be taken against the organizers of the movement, he said, and the Government was avoiding the "unfortunate litigation" as the court had counselled at last week's hearing.

The country as a whole, he said, was displaying consistent loyalty.

CAVALRY SENT

Madrid, Jan. 29.—Several squadrons of cavalry left Alcala this afternoon to deal with rebellious forces which have taken the field against the government at Ciudad Real. A regiment of infantry also set out for the scene from Madrid.

FRANCE HEARS REPORTS

Hendaye, French-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 29.—Advices received here to-day indicate revolutionary activities have broken out in many parts of Spain among both soldiers and civilians.

VICTORIA BAKERS TO BE TAKEN IN BAKERY MERGER

Intercity Company of Montreal Acquiring Rennie and Taylor

Montreal, Jan. 29.—A giant bakery merger, which will include many of the largest bakery independents in various parts of the country, and which will rival the Canadian Bakeries, is now being completed by the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, through its subsidiary, the Intercity Baking Company.

The merger will extend to the Pacific Coast, where, in Victoria, it is taking over the long-established business of Rennie and Taylor.

The last big bakery merger was that of the Canadian Bakeries, which took in Shelly Brothers, operating in Vancouver, Victoria and other parts of British Columbia, as well as some of the big bakeries on the prairies. It is allied with the Western Canada Flour Mills, it is understood.

A keen competition for the bread and cake trade of Western Canada is forecast here between these two powerfully-financed bakery companies, each with its own banking and flour mill backing.

JUNIOR SCHOOL CLASSES CLOSED; SENIORS STAY ON

By a special edict issued at the offices of the City School Board this morning, classes in all primary schools of the city and Grades 1 to 4, inclusive, are abandoned while present conditions continue.

Students in Grades 5 to 8, inclusive, and High School students will continue their work at school.

Notification will be published of any change in school arrangements, which will hold as long as present conditions remain, it was stated by George H. Deane, Municipal Inspector.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The United States Senate was informed to-day in a report submitted by President Coolidge that diplomatic negotiations would be begun with Canada on the subject of Canada's customs preference on imports routed through her seaports and shipping lines.

The report, made after a long investigation, said the Canadian preferences had resulted in some diversion of traffic from United States to Canadian ports. It was based on an investigation by the Secretaries of State and Agriculture and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Another report prepared by the Shipping Board and submitted by the President at the same time, differed in some of its findings from those of the other three departments.

Booth Counsel Heard By Court

Question of Salvation Army Leadership Argued Before Judge in London

London, Jan. 29.—The Salvation Army injunction hearing in the Chancery Court here was adjourned this afternoon until to-morrow. Two lengthy sessions were held to-day in which legal representatives of General Bramwell Booth and of the High Council submitted a mass of documentary evidence and many arguments.

London, Jan. 29.—Big legal guns began hammering away in the Chancery Court here to-day when the hearing was resumed before Mr. Justice Eve of the injunction proceedings instituted by General Bramwell Booth to prevent the High Council of the Salvation Army from removing him from office and electing a successor.

Efforts to reach a settlement, made during the last few days, had proved fruitless. W. A. Greene, attorney for General Booth, expressed regret when the court session was opened that with all goodwill by counsel for both sides, they had been unable to find a means of avoiding the "unfortunate litigation" as the court had counselled at last week's hearing.

DECLARATION OF 1904

The question of whether the High Council's action of adjudicating General Booth, as an unfit for continuance in his post as regular and whether the army's deed pool of 1904 was itself valid came up immediately. Mr. Greene argued that the "unfortunate litigation" as the court had counselled at last week's hearing.

He contended General Booth had been done an injustice by not being given an opportunity to present his side of the matter before the High Council and through an attorney to answer charges which should have been fully formulated, but were not.

Gavin Simonds, representing the high council, contended the general's case was in nowise prejudiced by the Council's refusal to allow his legal representative to be present in much as his wife, children and other supporters in the Council had had the utmost freedom of speech.

HURDEN IS HEAVY

"I have no hesitation in stating that even if the general makes the recovery which his doctors hope for, he could never be able to carry on the strain of the generalship," said a defence witness, who was called by the High Council.

Edward Higgins, chief of staff, testified that the general's health was such that he could not carry on the strain of the generalship.

Sentences Given In Merrick Case

London Night Club Queen and Two Men Are Sent to Prison; One Is Fined

London, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Kate Merrick, mother-in-law of two peers and prominent as a London night club proprietor, was sentenced to-day to fifteen months' imprisonment at hard labor on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

Luigi Achille Ribuffi, restaurant manager, who was accused with Mrs. Merrick, was sentenced to fifteen months at hard labor, while George Goodard, a former police sergeant, who was charged with having accepted bribes from the other defendants to permit the illegal sale of liquor, was sentenced to eighteen months at hard labor, was fined £2,000 and was ordered to pay the costs of the prosecution.

All three were found guilty after a trial in the Old Bailey Court.

AT THE THEATRES

MISS MOORE HAS FINE ROLE HERE AT THE CAPITOL

Colleen Moore gives the greatest performance of her career and one that overshadows anything seen on the screen in many months in First National's big new special production, "Lilac Time," which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre. First National is to be congratulated on its triumph in bringing Jane Cowell's stage success to the screen so brilliantly and on its good judgment in assigning Miss Moore to the stellar role.

Only an artist of consummate skill could so convincingly portray the role of Jeanne, the little French girl, who lives within hearing of the rumble of the big guns, hiding her tears behind a smile as she watches the youth of the land marching forward to the most terrible conflict in history, "Lilac Time" is not a war picture. It is a picture of the effects of war and like all great pictures it is realistic, simple.

As a special stage attraction the management has booked the Versatile Five, a talented aggregation of harpiets, who are exceptionally fine.

COLISEUM PLAYERS MAKE DEBUT HERE AS CLEVER GROUP

Despite the inclemency of weather conditions in the city a large crowd turned out last night to witness the first night performance of the Coliseum players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Leitch at the Coliseum Theatre, and found it well worth their while, for a finer stock company has not been seen in Victoria for many years. With a show entitled "Toby on the Spot," the company pleased all who saw it last night and with better weather promised for the remainder of the week record crowds should attend the theatre for the first week performance. All the players are fine and in every way live up to their advance notices. Mr. Leitch is too well known in the Coast to have very much said about him and last night proved his worth as a clever character comedian to Victorians. Miss Leone Weber, the leading lady with the company is all that could be desired and possesses a dainty, vivacious and outstanding performance, immediately winning her way into the hearts of all who saw her make her debut in Victoria. Miss Esther Todd is also fine and before very long promises to become a great favorite with Coliseum patrons. Others on the cast were Paul Wallace, William Bagley and Frank Cuff, the last named one of the best actors to appear in Victoria with a stock group. For a number of years he played the leading role in the Jew in Anne Nicholas' "Abner Irish Rose." It is safe to predict for the whole aggregation a long and successful run in this city. Manager McEwen has taken the entire company on for an indefinite engagement.

COLLEGE LIFE FEATURED NOW AT PLAYHOUSE

Entertainment for the whole family—This defines Fox Films comedy-drama "Prep and Pep" now at the Playhouse Theatre, a hilarious, clean cut story of a boy's life on the campus, filmed under direction of David Butler. In Oliver, led, with David Rollins and Nancy Drexel playing the featured roles.

"Prep and Pep" is a picture that abounds in humor, excitement and drama.

Rollins and Miss Drexel carry off their roles with honors. They are supported by a brilliant cast, including John Darrow, E. H. Calvert and Frank Albertson.

Presenting vividly the hazardous exploits of the air mail flyers, who pilot their planes through the night and the storm as regularly as they do through sunshine and fair weather, the story by James Ashmore Creelman centres about the romance in which two of these aviators are rivals for a charming girl. It unfolds also how the younger of these is retrieved from cowardice by his associate in a dramatic climax to a losing battle with the storm.

THRILLING DRAMA ON THE SCREEN AT DOMINION THEATRE

"The Terror," the first 100 per cent all-talkie moving picture, introduced to the local theatre-going public at the Dominion Theatre yesterday, was pronounced a success. It is real entertainment, the audience being keyed up from scene to scene as the plot becomes involved, and is then unravelled. It would hardly be fair to tell the outcome, save to say that everything comes to a satisfactory end as is usual with melodramas. The sound accompaniments helped tremendously and gave the distinguished cast an opportunity to show what they could do with dialogue. When it is merged with the action, which never lags at any time, the result is surprising and shows that the talking picture has come to stay and will take a very prominent part in theatrical fare from now on.

The plot deals with a mysterious person who hanties the sanctuary of Dr. Redmayne and before he is brought to heel sure creates a lot of trouble.

GIRLS FEATURE "THE DUMB BELLS"

Capt. Plunkett Adds Twelve Canadian Women For Show Here Next Week

In pursuance of his policy to provide something entirely new with each serial review sponsored by him under the banner of the Dumbbells, Captain Plunkett has departed drastically from the traditional all-man revue of the past nine years for "Why Worry?" which will show at the Royal Victoria Theatre, February 4, 5 and 6. He has added about a dozen Canadian girls to the cast of an equal number of old-time favorites, headed by Al Plunkett, "Red" Newman, Fred Emney.

In introducing girls into this heretofore Eveless Eden, Captain Plunkett is simply following the precepts that had their beginning when the population of this world was one—and man had all his ribs.

There has been considerable controversy over this move since time immemorial, and there will probably be a great amount of discussion over this latest evidence that Adam was father of us all.

Captain Plunkett cleverly explains his reason in the opening prologue of "Why Worry?" when he proffers a testimonial to the girls and women of Canada for the part which they so valiantly played in the Great War. Of one thing we may be certain, Captain Plunkett is too good a showman to let the Dumbbells go backwards, and stand still. Every season for nine years he has produced a revue that was just a bit better than the one before, and he has gone to unusual lengths to make his tenth annual revue the greatest of them all.

"City of Flowers" Lecture Subject At Chamber To-night

Under the auspices of the Victoria Horticultural Society, Frank E. Bennett of St. Thomas, Ontario, will give an illustrated lecture in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce to-night at 8.30 o'clock. The lecture, which is described as "Cook's Tour of the City of Flowers," is a travesty, fully illustrated with colored views, showing beauty spots in and around St. Thomas. The illustrations show in a vivid way the work done by St. Thomas Horticultural Society under the presidency of Dr. Bennett. The talk deals with flowers in general, but the range of picture slides is such that special talks on beautification of railway surroundings can be given.

Dr. Bennett is a very forceful and descriptive speaker and has been much in demand, not only in the eastern cities of Canada, but in those of the United States also. The lecture is free. P. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, will preside.

Shelly Misled House Says Liberal Leader Moving For Censure

Declares Finance Minister Misinformed Members in Statements About Private Bond Sales Under Liberal Government; No Such Sales Were Made, He Asserts; Motion Attacking Shelly Ruled Out of Order

Private sale of Government bonds, the most absorbing topic of the present session, bobbed up again in the Legislature yesterday before any business could get under way when T. D. Pattullo, Opposition leader, moved to censure Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, for making false statements about the financing of the former Liberal Ministry.

In the end, the motion was ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker Jones, but by that time the Opposition had got over to the House all the facts it desired in another of the free-for-all wrangles on procedure which took up most of last Friday's session.

Mr. Pattullo raised the issue as soon as the House met by rising on a question of privilege to resent Mr. Shelly's statements and to move that "This House regrets that the Honorable the Minister of Finance, dealing with the question of sale of provincial securities during the course of his speech on Friday afternoon, January 25, submitted to this House incomplete and erroneous information which was misrepresentative of the real facts."

DENIES STATEMENT

Mr. Pattullo recalled that when he objected to the recent sale of Government bonds privately, Mr. Shelly had replied that the former Liberal Ministry had made many such sales; and that one of these sales had been authorized by Mr. Pattullo himself as acting Minister of Finance.

"There is nothing in the order-in-council quoted by the Minister of Finance and signed by me to specifically authorize sale of debentures by private sale and I wish the House to know as a matter of fact that the debentures which were sold under the authority of the order-in-council were part of a larger issue which had been sold by public tender and the issue referred to the order-in-council, namely, $10,000,000, was awarded to the syndicate who had secured the larger award by public tender at the price of the public tender," he said.

"In the statement submitted by the Minister of Finance, it is indicated that some $18,000,000 of securities of the Province were sold by private sale by his administration. That statement is very misleading."

"Of the sixteen items quoted by the Minister as having been sold by private sale, in five of them, aggregating $1,000,000, the securities were sold to the Workmen's Compensation Board. I do not think that anyone will look upon a sale of British Columbia securities to the Workmen's Compensation Board as a private sale."

P.A.G. STOCK

The item of $5,900,000 quoted by the Minister consisted of Pacific Great Eastern collateral stock guaranteed by the Province. The Pacific Great Eastern is a corporate body of itself and the guaranteed collateral stock was in an entirely different position from the ordinary securities of the Province.

"Another item mentioned by the Minister of $4,000,000 was not more than a six-months' note of hand and was disposed of just as an ordinary treasury note is sold to the Bank of Commerce and cost only 4.37 per cent."

"Of the balance of approximately $7,800,000 referred to by the Minister as having been sold by private sale, this edictorially was not obtained by public tender."

LIBERAL POLICY

"During the time that our administration was in office, we disposed of over $9,000,000 of securities, direct obligation of the Province, and approximately $6,000,000 indirect obligation, guaranteeing P.G.E. collateral stock. Of this amount of $98,000,000, the Minister of Finance only alleges that we sold $18,000,000 by private sale, so that even if his statement were correct, which it is not, that would leave approximately $80,000,000 sold by public tender, which is an indication beyond question of just what our policy was."

"The statement of the Minister in connection with the amount of $18,000,000 is grossly misrepresentative. I trust that I have made it clear to the House that the statement which I made as to our policy was in no sense incorrect and on the contrary the Minister of Finance gave a very wrong impression as to my personal attitude upon this issue."

Mr. Pattullo's motion censuring Mr. Shelly and his speech launched the House on nearly an hour's rather hectic debate on questions of order. C. F. Davis, Conservative of Cowichan-Newcastle, insisted that the Pattullo motion must have two days' notice before being voted on, but Mr. Pattullo said it must be considered immediately under the rules. Attorney-General Fowler supported Mr. Davis, but A. M. Manson, Liberal of Omicame, quoted many authorities to prove that the motion must be considered forthwith.

Mr. Davis went further and insisted that Mr. Pattullo had not discussed a question of privilege, was "trying to put something over on the House," and he did not propose to let him do so.

Jan. Mackenzie, Liberal of North Vancouver, delivered a vigorous address in support of his leader, accused Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe of his "customary sophistry" in supporting Mr. Davis's view, and attacked H. D. Twigg, Conservative of Victoria, who shared the Conservative viewpoint.

"MUSCOLINI TACTICS"

When Mr. Davis interrupted, Mr. Mackenzie turned off him and called him "the new dictator," and said it was too bad the Cowichan-Newcastle member was not in the chair where he could "exercise his Mussolini tactics."

This brought instant objection from Mr. Davis, who held that it was unparliamentary to call a member "Mussolini" or "dictator."

Mr. Mackenzie concluded by remarking that even if the Government smothered the Pattullo motion, with its "mechanical majority," the Opposition had set itself right with the country.

Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, protested against "this spectacle," which, he said, was a bad example to everyone and indicated that the members had not been where they should have been over the week-end.

Finally Mr. Speaker ruled that the Pattullo motion was out of order, as the matters raised did not constitute a question of privilege and the incident ended there.

Falling Pin Like Cannon Salvo In Magic Lab of Bell Telephone Co.

By ISRAEL KLEIN

New York, Jan. 29.—The land of throbbing life and nervous reality that we are prone to think of as New York, contains an island of dreams and of magic of which few travelers are aware. It is Fairyland itself, a modern fairyland, under the reign not of invisible fairies but of stern, reasoning men and women. It is a fairyland, nevertheless, where the unseen is seen, the unheard becomes a thunder-crash and the impossible is accomplished.

This is the Magic City, strange to relate, of one of the greatest scientific institutions in the country—Bell Telephone Laboratories.

OUTDO FABLES

That seems like a cold, harsh drop from the visions of a Fairy City of your younger days to what is just a matter-of-fact workshop for scientific research. But no fairy of our childhood dreams ever waved her wand over such startling wonders as are accomplished in an orderly, scientific way by the men and women in these laboratories.

For here, amidst the odors of chemicals and the hum of motors, I experienced wonders actually performed greater than were the mental caprices of a Glimmer of an Andersen.

I saw my voice—saw it, not just heard it—tangoing up and down, across a screen, as I spoke into an ordinary transmitter. Then saw my words recorded by the trace of light on a photo film, for refined study by experts in phonetics.

I watched millions on millions of invisible electrons—those tiniest particles of matter—forming graceful blue curves of light on the end of a vacuum bulb.

Outside the brick building containing these wonders, horse-drawn trucks cluttered over the wide cobblestone streets to the docks of ocean liners along the Hudson waterfront across the way. Taxis tooted and ships' sirens shrieked. Inside, locked myself behind triple-steel doors in a sound-proof quiet room, when the drop of a pin could be detected by a sensitive instrument and shot out like the boom of a gun.

CONTRASTS

Outside, I could see massive ocean liners at a far distance waiting their passengers and freight for the next trip across the Atlantic. Inside, I had to peer through a highly sensitive microscope to see the tiny crystals that make up the steel of these ships. Here, it is no uncommon practice to cut a piece of soft metal or wood less than one ten-thousandth of an inch in thickness, or to measure the distance from the hand to the thickness of a quarter-millionth of an inch.

For in this Fairyland scientists have devised apparatus so highly sensitive that it can measure the distance of a billionth of an inch, or a millionth of a degree in temperature. It is the finest variation man has ever measured, yet it appears in the motion of a spot of light that can be noticed in an instant.

Here, as in many other laboratories, men and women play with extremes. They count the invisible atoms in matter, so tiny that 100,000,000 of them side by side would take up only an inch of space. They work with air so thin that it is almost a vacuum—almost nothing at all. The same air, condensed into such a heavy state that it becomes a liquid more than 350 degrees below freezing temperature, is to these scientists as commonplace as the milk that is left on our doorsteps each morning.

Into that extremely cold liquid, the rulers of this scientific fairyland can plunge a red-hot carbon pencil and make it glow with an intense heat. A drop of this cold liquid on the skin would make it blister as if scalded by the spark of a white-hot molten metal. These are representative of the wonders experienced in this fairyland of science, all produced from cold, logical formulas. Men and women scientists here seek the facts of our existence and try to accommodate them to our everyday lives.

INVISIBLE LIGHT

We want as much light as possible to see things. They shut off this light and search for things in a form of light that is invisible to the eye. What is invisible to us they see. What we cannot hear, they hear. What we can't do, they do.

But not a single wonder they perform is done for fun. Theirs is the business of improving our means of communication—by telephone, by telegraph and cable, by wireless. What appears as a marvel to us is merely an experiment toward perfecting our telephone, or speeding up the transmission of messages, or clearing up the air for radio communication.

Every one of the wonders I saw at these laboratories was part of the great experimental and research equipment needed for this work. Many of the men here do not seem to be getting anywhere. Day after day, year in and year out, they appear to be playing with freakish devices that show hardly any relationship to telephony or radio.

DAILY DISCOVERIES

But every day discoveries are made—and from them follow tremendous improvements in telephone, cable and radio transmission. A development may take weeks or years of intensive labor until the final reward comes.

Thus was television accomplished in these same laboratories. Thus were cable messages speeded up to 2,500 letters a minute. Thus was the dial system of telephony developed. And in the same serious and patient way were many other improvements made that have saved the people of the United States millions of dollars and many precious seconds in telephoning.

These material wonders are what the fairies in this magic city have brought us.

NEW ARBITRATION PLAN IS OPPOSED

Engineers' Association Objects to Scheme for Strike Conciliation in Britain

London, Jan. 29.—The British Engineers' Association yesterday condemned as unrepresentative the proposal to establish a national industrial council to adjudicate trade disputes.

Lord Melchett, formerly Sir Alfred Mond of London, and one of the leaders of the movement in Great Britain to bring capital and labor into practical co-operation, originally sponsored the plan, which was approved last June by the General Council of the Trades Union Congress.

The Engineers' Association argued that managerial, technical and other salaried staff employees would have no direct opportunity to participate in the deliberations of the proposed council. The association held that only 4,000,000 out of 8,000,000 insured persons in British industry would have representation on the council.

The proposed industrial council would set up conciliation boards, which in turn would investigate such trade disputes as might be referred to them before the start of lockouts or strikes. The new council would include representatives of the General Council of the Trades Union Congress and representatives of employers nominated by the National Federation of Employers and by the Federation of British Industries.

The proposal gave undue weight, the Engineers' Association said, to the representatives of the General Council of the Trades Union Congress, which directly represented fewer than 4,000,000 out of 12,000,000 insured persons in industry in Britain.

Cotton Belt Opens Extensive Ore Body

Vancouver, Jan. 29. (By Stobie, Forlong-Mehar, Roe).—The management of the Cotton Belt mines reports that the No. 1 shaft at the Meadow View Gold property was now down eighty-five feet in free milling gold ore all the way. A channel sample taken across eight feet at the bottom of the shaft gave returns of better than $15 in gold and silver, with the ore running close to $13 in gold. Nicked samples returned as high as $253 in gold and silver.

The property is being developed by three shafts, all of which have been sunk on the vein and are in ore, as far as they have been carried down. When the three shafts are down to the 100-foot level, it is the intention of the management to start drifting in each direction and connect the shafts. The property is near Edgewood, B.C., on a main highway.

Speaking of Depreciation how much have you written off Yourself this year?

"THAT'S a queer question—what do you mean?"

"Well, think of it this way. Your mind and body constitute a plant or factory good for a certain lifetime or period of service. But all this time there is a definite and inevitable depreciation going on.

The day is coming when this plant, which is You, will no longer be able to earn the money you need.

Every man should be willing to provide against the risk of living beyond the term of his efficiency—for this world is a cold, dreary place for penniless old age.

The business corporation does this by systematically setting up a reserve against depreciation. You can do it best by means of an Imperial Guaranteed Income Policy which transforms a modest annual deposit into a monthly income for your later years—to give you the comforts and independence you then will want."

Now, while you are insurable, is the time to arrange it. Write for particulars today.

The first exhibition of the newly formed Society of Sculptors of Canada disclosed the presence in Canada of artists of finished technique.

Homesteader Wins In Peace River

Peace River, Alta., Jan. 29.—After waiting at the lands office from Friday, January 18, until yesterday morning, G. Turcotte of Falher was successful in securing the land of his choice, a homestead in the Falher district that had been under lease and but recently was thrown open for filing. To pass through ten days of subzero weather with the temperature ranging from thirty below during the day and to almost fifty during the night, was a heavy price to pay for a homestead, but as Turcotte says, "I don't mind it now that I have secured the land. It is a dandy quarter and adjoins my property."

BIG INCREASES IN DUTIES URGED

Washington, Jan. 29. (By Francis G. Aldham, Staff Writer of the Canadian Press).—The demand for higher tariff rates on agricultural products entering the United States continued unabated yesterday, the House ways and means committee being forced to close its hearing on food products preparatory to recommending tariff changes to Congress.

For the American Farm Bureau Federation, Chester Gray presented the schedule of tariffs which the Western United States farmers are practically unanimous in endorsing.

If this schedule should be adopted the duty on stocker and feeder cattle, now one and a half cents a pound, would be three cents. Beef cattle, now two cents, would be four. Sheep and goats, now $2 a head, would be $3. Swine, now one and a half cents a pound, would be 5. Fresh milk, now two and a half cents a gallon, would be 8. Butter, now 12 cents a pound, would be 15. American style cheese, now 5 cents a pound, would be 8. Swiss cheese, now 7½ cents a pound, would be 12. Poultry, now 3 cents a pound, would be 10. Eggs, now 8 cents a dozen, would be 10. Barley, now 20 cents a bushel, would be 24. Oats, now 15 cents a bushel, would be 16. Rye, now 15 cents a bushel, would be 30. The wheat rate would remain at 42 cents a bushel for ordinary wheat, with a further graded increase for high protein wheat. The duties on all fruits and vegetables practically would be 100 per cent higher. Potatoes would be raised from half a cent a pound to 1 cent. Alfalfa seed, now 4 cents a pound, would be 6. Various brands of clover seed would be increased 100 per cent. Timothy would be raised from 2 to 3 cents a pound; flaxseed would be boosted to 40 cents a bushel and hay from $4 a ton to $6.

Some 200 witnesses testified and submitted briefs at the agricultural hearing. Most of them were in favor of a big increase in the tariff on food products.

TRYING TO SHACKLE US

MANY READERS OF THE MORNING paper must have been astonished at an article in its editorial columns supporting the agitation fomented by certain up-Island interests in opposition to the resumption of work on the Ocean Highway which was begun by the late Government, after full investigation by its engineers, last Summer.

In view of the well-remembered fact that The Colonist, in line with all the important organizations and commercial interests of the community, strongly supported the project and last Summer actually credited the political party it supported with being the real authors of it, its change of front is difficult to understand. There was scarcely any agitation against this important improvement at that time. There was none two years ago when committees of citizens waited upon representatives of both Dominion and provincial Governments in regard to this work. Nobody raised any opposition when it was pointed out that this highway, by opening up new territory rich in timber and mineral resources tributary to this city, was the natural complement of the programme of industrial development contemplated at the Ogden Point docks and shipping expansion at this port.

What is behind this belated agitation against the only development in sight which could put southern Vancouver Island on the map? Our enterprising Vancouver friends have cornered most of the business along the east coast from Cowichan District north. Is it not startling, to say the least, to find any interest in this city trying to chloroform a project—and that already started—calculated to make the west coast accessible by highway to the 65,000 people who live on this part of the Island?

The reasons given by our contemporary for holding up the work make its attitude all the more inexplicable. It says, for instance, that the route selected "touches too few populated centres." Did it ever hear of "populated centres"—except shipping ports—existing anywhere ahead of roads? Were there any populous centres on the east coast of the Island before there was any road, except, say, Nanaimo, a shipping port? Roads are for the purpose of building up populous centres. So are railways. How long would we have had to wait for the C.P.R., for example, if its promoters delayed construction until there were more communities along its projected route?

It also is suggested that "any new road-building programme on Vancouver Island should be considered from the standpoint of Island development as a whole." We agree. That is the policy which has been followed; it is the policy which determined the route of the Island highway. It is only necessary to study the map to realize the development which took place after the construction of that road. The West Coast Road project is intended to aid development in that area of the Island which is more or less virgin territory. It will remain virgin territory and yield none of its wealth until it has been provided with adequate means of communication. It is an area on Vancouver Island which should provide Victoria with new markets. That is the reason why Dr. Tolmie, the four city members, the Attorney-General, all the organizations of the city, and all progressive citizens of the community desire to see the project completed at the earliest possible moment. The quibble about the route is merely fluff. Government engineers settled this point when they conducted their surveys. Does The Colonist suggest that they did not know their business?

May we point out that more than sixty per cent. of the population of Vancouver Island reside in Greater Victoria and the district directly contiguous to it and that it is a big contributor to the Provincial Treasury. Will The Colonist, or anybody else, please tell us why it is more in the interests of the Island to kill this project in compliance with the wishes of the minority than to complete it to the advantage of the majority?

The West Coast Road is a project in which Victoria and an undeveloped section of Vancouver Island are vitally interested. It is a sound economic undertaking. The whole of the Island will benefit by its construction. The Government should see to it that work on it is resumed without delay. It has promised industrial and other development. Here is one way to bring that about.

Forty years ago Victoria was the third city on the Pacific Coast in size and population. Vancouver and Seattle were villages. Compared with them and scores of other places our progress has not even been normal, because certain elements, both within and without, kept us in leg-irons and we meekly let them do it. We have just kicked these shackles off, and now an attempt is being made to put them on again. Are we going to let them do it?

FOUR DOLLARS TO ONE

IN THE CALENDAR YEAR WHICH ended last month Canada sold Australia goods to the value of $16,273,158 and bought from the southern Dominion goods to the value of $3,922,265—a balance in this country's favor of no less than $12,350,893.

There are still critics of the King Government who think we ought to be selling Australia more and buying less from her. Mr. Bennett has been going about the country telling the Canadian people that the Canadian-Australian trade treaty is ruining the dairy industry of this Dominion. The fact that Canada is not producing enough butter for her own needs makes no impression upon him. The King Government negotiated the treaty after unsuccessful attempts by a Conservative Government; that, of course, is enough to earn his hostility to it in any case. In a very few words Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner for Canada, explained what has happened to the Canadian butter industry, why we have ceased to be an exporting country and become an importing country, in the course of an address at Belleville recently. He said then:

If anyone had predicted in 1924 that it would be necessary for Canada to import butter inside of two years, he would have laid himself open to ridicule; but just because weather conditions produced good crops of wheat in the Prairie Provinces, and because the successful wheat grower is always careless of his opportunities in dairying, the expected large increase in butter production in these Provinces has been turned into a decrease. I am glad to note that during the last three months there has been a substantial increase in the output, especially in Saskatchewan, over the same period in 1927. Importation of butter has been necessary, as it has been in former periods, because the increase in the east alone has not been equal to the greatly-increased home consumption.

So we have been getting butter from Australia and New Zealand in order that a prosperous Canadian people would not have to go on short commons. The ruin of the dairy industry of the Dominion is not a condition; it is a political theory which exists only in the minds of those whose partisanship blinds them to fact.

"AN UNDESIRABLE THING"

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN AND RT. Hon. W. C. Bridgman, Foreign Secretary and First Lord of the Admiralty in the Baldwin Government respectively, do not agree on the programme for British naval construction. Mr. Bridgman and his colleagues in the Admiralty are said to be insistent that three cruisers be begun this year. Mr. Baldwin, Sir Austen, and Mr. Churchill are reported to be in favor of beginning one only, the latter objecting to more on the grounds of economy, while the Foreign Secretary is opposed to the Admiralty's programme as "an undesirable thing in itself."

This is not a new situation in Great Britain. Lord Randolph Churchill's dramatic resignation from the position of Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Salisbury Government in the Winter of 1886 was due solely to his inability to concur in the demands made upon the treasury by the heads of the naval and military departments. History repeated itself when the son of that distinguished Conservative leader, Mr. Winston Churchill, fell out with Mr. Bridgman soon after the present Government took office. He did not see the need for the programme advocated a year or so ago—and it was halted and modified. Nor did the present First Lord of the Admiralty add to his laurels by the part he took in the abortive Geneva naval conference.

It is interesting to note Sir Austen Chamberlain's objection to the building of any more battleships than are absolutely essential. He regards the Admiralty's programme as embodying an undesirable policy. Although we are not told just what the Foreign Secretary means by this, we may assume that he is endeavoring to avoid competition in armaments with foreign powers.

"I notice the calibre of bootleggers has been going steadily downward until now they are a very low class—U. S. Federal Judge Wam. Society must accept the bootlegger, and by society we mean the bride and the bridegroom, the horse show group, the Hispano-hunt club people, the society group, the Hispano-hunt club people. Society must permit the bootlegger and the bootlegger's wife and daughter to enter by the front door instead of sliding in the back way with their hats on. The plight of the bootlegger, we fancy, is the result of a dreadful inferiority complex, and the socially prominent should let down the bars a bit and help correct it. Otherwise, the race of bootleggers may die out. And then what would become of society?"

NO GRUMBING ALLOWED
The Manchester Guardian

According to The Morning Post, an effort is being made to emphasize the attractions of Soviet Russia as a centre for tourists and holiday-makers. But those holiday-makers who are inclined to cry with Touchstone "When I was at home I was in a better place," would probably do well to avoid such regions. The habit of grumbling about the behavior of the natives may not matter in this country, but it might be misunderstood in Moscow. The inhabitants might not make allowances for what is probably a peculiarly British type of holiday-maker, and to observe loudly in public, "Well, if that's the Nevsky Prospect I'd rather have Blackpool," might lead to an extension of the visit with free quarters in a cell. By all accounts the Soviet authorities are a little sensitive to outside criticism.

Deciding the Play—West opens with Ace of club and then plays six of clubs. East wins the trick with Queen of clubs. What card should South play? The Error—Declarer trumps with Jack of spades. The Correct Method—South should discard nine of hearts. He should not weaken his trump strength. No matter what cards opponents play, game is now assured. ## DAVIS MUST STAND TRIAL

Committed to Higher Court on Manslaughter Charge By Magistrate

James Davis was this morning in City Police Court fined $15 for driving an automobile without a licence. The charge arose out of the accident on Signal Hill, Esquimalt, in which Thomas Pennerfether was killed January 10. Davis pleaded guilty to the charge.

Another case for trial at the Spring Assizes, opening here March 11, was set down yesterday, when James Davis, driver of the car in which Thomas Pennerfether of Cowichan Lake met his death on Signal Hill January 11, was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter by Magistrate George Jay.

Seventeen witnesses were called by the Crown in the preliminary hearing which concluded in Esquimalt.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, January 29, 1904

One of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings ever held in Colquitz was addressed last evening by Ralph Smith, M.P., and a number of others. At the residence of the bride's parents, 19 Young Street, last evening, Alex. Feden and Miss Violet Robinson were united in wedlock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Leslie Clay in the presence of relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties.

Hon. C. E. Pooley, Speaker of the Legislature, entertained the members of the House at dinner at his residence last evening.

The Victoria Theatre was crowded last evening when "The Devil's Auction" was presented.

With between thirty and forty thousand feet of lumber from the new lumber mill at Quatsino, the steamer Queen City arrived yesterday afternoon from the West Coast. On the West Coast only two sealers were seen, those being the Umbra, which was sighted at Nanaimo, and a full Indian crew, and a vessel which was at anchor at Nanaimo Creek.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light or moderate winds, generally fair and cold.

Police Court yesterday afternoon after two previous adjournments.

Davis was committed for trial after a plea by his counsel, Stuart Henderson, for dismissal of the charge on the grounds that the evidence was insufficient to support it.

INFERENTIAL
"It seems hardly a prima facie case against this man. The evidence of how the accident occurred is more inferential than actual, and the evidence of how Mr. Pennerfether was killed is very slight. There has been proof of course that he was killed; but the cause of death has not been connected up," said Mr. Henderson.

The only evidence of negligence on the part of the accused was regarding the speed which the car was traveling, and this was the evidence of two men who had seen the car before it started to climb a steep, difficult hill, he pointed out. Further, there was the evidence that another car had been approaching in the opposite direction just prior to the accident, interfering with the passage of the Davis car on the narrow road, nor was there evidence of intoxication, he said.

The House came back to work on Monday as out-of-sorts as it went home for the week-end after Friday's fuss. Perhaps, indeed, after wading through the new-fallen snow and slipping on the icy driveway, it was feeling a little worse. This was unusual, for after its weekly holiday the House generally comes back quite human.

Whatever was the trouble, it should not get down to business for over an hour, and in those sixty hectic minutes the honorable members huddled and called themselves "Mussolini," "debtors," "obscure-headed" and other kind things until Mr. Speaker Jones at last called off the whole shaboodle of provincial bonds again. Evidently that subject did not end in the exchanges between Mr. Shelly and Mr. Pattullo as we had expected. Mr. Shelly had not ended yesterday either for that matter. Mr. Shelly had on his desk a long list of figures, which suggested that he, like Mr. Pattullo, would have a lot more to say when the time came.

The House is so worked up over the merits or demerits of the private sale of bonds that it keeps reverting to them again and again. This time Mr. Pattullo delivered a speech on a question of privilege to prove that Mr. Shelly had misinterpreted him. Air not with any hope of it passing, but to conform with an ancient rule which has never been conformed with before, Mr. Pattullo moved a motion censuring Mr. Shelly for so doing.

This offered alluring and irresistible bait to the pundits and the authorities on procedure. The Conservative authorities were quite sure Mr. Pattullo had no right to press his motion, at least without two days' notice. The Liberal authorities, curiously enough, were quite sure Mr. Pattullo was right. Nothing would satisfy these few gentlemen, who alone knew anything about the rules and alone are interested in them, until they told what they knew from beginning to end. As everyone knew something different to be the only possible truth, the process was lengthy.

Mr. Davis, who would sooner worry a point of order than adjourn for dinner, thought that Mr. Pattullo was trying to put something over on an innocent House and assured the House that he would protect it if he could. Mr. Shelly came back with a dozen authorities to show that Mr. Pattullo was not trying to put anything over but was having something put over on him. In the event went to Rotundo's authority in the Canadian Parliament, page 432, but Mr. Pooley cut him short by saying he ought to confine himself to May, the British authority, page something else. The House could not get enthusiastic about either.

Mr. Twigg thought it could not be a question of privilege. Mr. Hayward thought it would be a good idea to do some business. Mr. Pattullo thought his veracity had been challenged. And the rest of the House thought that the would be tedious to keep deep on the laws before it could quit for the day if this went on much longer.

ACROSS THE BAY

The House Comes Back Out-of-sorts—Provincial Bonds Still Causing Trouble—And Points of Order Hold Up Business Again—While Mr. Speaker Frowns on Mussolini

The House came back to work on Monday as out-of-sorts as it went home for the week-end after Friday's fuss. Perhaps, indeed, after wading through the new-fallen snow and slipping on the icy driveway, it was feeling a little worse. This was unusual, for after its weekly holiday the House generally comes back quite human.

Whatever was the trouble, it should not get down to business for over an hour, and in those sixty hectic minutes the honorable members huddled and called themselves "Mussolini," "debtors," "obscure-headed" and other kind things until Mr. Speaker Jones at last called off the whole shaboodle of provincial bonds again. Evidently that subject did not end in the exchanges between Mr. Shelly and Mr. Pattullo as we had expected. Mr. Shelly had not ended yesterday either for that matter. Mr. Shelly had on his desk a long list of figures, which suggested that he, like Mr. Pattullo, would have a lot more to say when the time came.

The House is so worked up over the merits or demerits of the private sale of bonds that it keeps reverting to them again and again. This time Mr. Pattullo delivered a speech on a question of privilege to prove that Mr. Shelly had misinterpreted him. Air not with any hope of it passing, but to conform with an ancient rule which has never been conformed with before, Mr. Pattullo moved a motion censuring Mr. Shelly for so doing.

This offered alluring and irresistible bait to the pundits and the authorities on procedure. The Conservative authorities were quite sure Mr. Pattullo had no right to press his motion, at least without two days' notice. The Liberal authorities, curiously enough, were quite sure Mr. Pattullo was right. Nothing would satisfy these few gentlemen, who alone knew anything about the rules and alone are interested in them, until they told what they knew from beginning to end. As everyone knew something different to be the only possible truth, the process was lengthy.

Mr. Davis, who would sooner worry a point of order than adjourn for dinner, thought that Mr. Pattullo was trying to put something over on an innocent House and assured the House that he would protect it if he could. Mr. Shelly came back with a dozen authorities to show that Mr. Pattullo was not trying to put anything over but was having something put over on him. In the event went to Rotundo's authority in the Canadian Parliament, page 432, but Mr. Pooley cut him short by saying he ought to confine himself to May, the British authority, page something else. The House could not get enthusiastic about either.

Mr. Twigg thought it could not be a question of privilege. Mr. Hayward thought it would be a good idea to do some business. Mr. Pattullo thought his veracity had been challenged. And the rest of the House thought that the would be tedious to keep deep on the laws before it could quit for the day if this went on much longer.

In vain was the soothing voice of Mr. Hinchliffe raised for the first time during the session to prove, with his inimitable logic, that Mr. Pattullo was in order, and that he was out of order. Mr. Mackenzie lit into him as of old time in a speech full of passion and Scottish eloquence. Mr. Hinchliffe said Mr. Mackenzie was relating to his "customary sophistries." As for Mr. Twigg (whom he icily called the junior member for Victoria even though he is the greatest time-waster the House has ever known), Mr. Mackenzie, despite his ignorance, felt he was as good a judge of common sense as the House, and of course he added, leaving his tail figure out over his desk at the Victoria member. This, of course, was the inevitable revival of an old feud and sounded familiar to members who recollect the sessions of 1927 and 1928.

Mr. Mackenzie got warmer as he thought of the injustice that had been done to his leader. He found in the horror that Mr. Davis's head was obtrusive, which brought a sharp rebuke from Mr. Jones. He found to his horror also that the privileges of Parliament had been violated and he pounded a pile of rule books as he said so. And he concluded by declaring that Mr. Davis was a "new dictator" and that he was too good for Mr. Davis. He was not in the Speaker's chair where he could exercise his "Mussolini tactics."

At this point, which must be forever historic, Mr. Speaker stepped in with a ruling which will go down in the records among the really important rulings of Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature. He ruled that to call a member Mussolini is unpardonable and unpardonable. So far as is known, British Columbia is the first political entity in the world thus to disapprove of Fascism in its brutal fashion that an honorable member dare not compare another honorable member to the leader of the movement.

In the end Mr. Mackenzie sat down with a smile, having as he was at pains to point out, accomplished his result by being so tactful. Mr. Pattullo's voice over to the public despite the "mechanical" and "brute" majority of the Government. This latter remark, he added, when objection was taken to it, was used, of course, as the House would understand, in the best Pickwickian sense, and had been used by no less a person than Sir John A. Macdonald himself. This silenced objection to it.

Mr. Uphill had listened to all this with quiet resignation, but he could contain his mind no longer. "I am afraid," he said, "that the honorable members haven't spent their week-end as they should or we would have seen this here speech." He graciously accepted on behalf of everyone present "the Government's apology," which the Government had "seen the error of its ways and repented," he would support it, which the Government probably did not desire.

Mr. Speaker cut him short by ruling the Pattullo motion even more out of order than the Conservative authorities had suggested. The Opposition accepted this ruling with fortitude for the motion already had served the purpose. It had enabled the Opposition to say all it wanted to say anyway and no one regretted its premature burial. That is not the end of bonds, however. We shall hear more and more of them and of Mr. Shelly and Mr. Pattullo and private sales and rates of interest before the snow melts.

After this argument the House started to plough doggedly on through the debate on the Speech from the Throne with four short but worthwhile addresses. Mr. Carson, of Lillooet, who is said to be the baby of the House and is a clean-cut young chap, introduced the P.G.E., which is not altogether a new idea, but on which he had some new ideas. Mr. Borden, of Nelson, gave a business-like talk on the interior country. Colonel Lister, of Creston, who says what he has to say in blunt soldier style, brought up his favorite topic of soldier settlement. Then Capt. James Fitzsimmons, of Kaslo-Stechan, capped the day's speaking with the best speech of the day. He said the people of British Columbia were more interested in good business in government than in eloquent speeches on questions of procedure. This nasty dig from so unexpected a quarter made the House feel that it had had enough for the day, and it adjourned. But not before it became pretty clear that the Government is deliberately sitting back and drawing out the Opposition, a plan which so far has been remarkably successful. These things and the importation of a large new armchair for the return of Premier Tolmie, whose figure does not agree with the smaller ones generally provided for the full programme. Until the Premier fills this big and better chair the House will do much talking but little business.

WARNS AGAINST CONCESSIONS TO B.C. LUMBERMEN

Lister Warns Government
Against Decreasing Forest
Revenue

Asks Help in Meeting Costs
of B.C. Irrigation Schemes

Pleading for relief for districts in British Columbia under Government irrigation schemes, Col. Fred Lister, Creston, in the debate on the speech from the Throne yesterday, gave warning that he had a lot of wants for his district, and if he did not get them, he was going to be an ornery customer to handle. He touched in passing on the anticipated appeal of lumbermen for concessions and charging that some of their losses were through their own mismanagement, urged the Government to go slow before making any steps which would decrease the revenue the Province received from its forests.

In opening, he congratulated Mr. Pattullo on his election as Leader of the Opposition.

"He is a man well fitted for the job, and I hope he will stay there a long time," said Col. Lister. "In the conditions in British Columbia, he remarked that it was not because of the late Government, but in spite of them. Mining was improving because, as we got farther away from the war, more money was available for development."

Lumbermen would come to this Government asking for concessions for their industry, he said. What was the matter with the industry? It was true logs did not fetch the price they did four years ago. He believed one of the reasons, however, why the lumbermen were not making as much money as they should do was to a great extent their own fault. They were not paying sufficient attention to overhead and in many instances there was mismanagement.

He urged the Government to give serious consideration before they took any step to lower the revenue the Province received from the lumber industry. He was glad to note that the Leader of the Opposition had changed his mind in regard to help for irrigation districts. Some of these districts were totally unable to pay the charges levied against them and would ask the Government for assistance. It was up to British Columbia to decide whether the fruit industry was worth anything to the Province, to decide how much it was worth, and then decide to what extent they were prepared to help.

"I am going to ask this Government for more money for irrigation for my own district, and if I do not get it, I will be an ornery customer to handle," he said.

Talking on the Produce Market Act, he said it had not been a success in its present form. A lot of lawyers had made money out of it, he commented. No doubt the Committee of Direction would come to the House seeking amendments. They would have his support, as some such scheme was necessary.

He charged the member for North Vancouver was late in coming out as a champion of returned soldiers, and had refused to support him on previous occasions when he had pleaded for returned soldiers of Creston. The settlement schemes were a monument of failure to the last Government, he said. In drawing a dismal picture of the Creston settlement with deserted farm houses, cattle running wild, and noxious weeds spreading all over the district. He asked the Government to do something to combat the weed nuisance created by the abandoned farms. Some settlers were packing water two or three miles, he said, and he would ask the Government to put in a domestic water supply. A system was essential to get settlers to stay on farms there, he said.

On the subject of patronage, he said there had been only one man dismissed in his constituency. "I don't know if I agree with that," he said. "I also wish to criticize, mildly, the Attorney-General. I notice he says he has divorced the Provincial Police from politics. He should have taken the politics out of the police before he did that. He charged long service men had been overlooked in the matter of promotion and new men had early risen to high ranks."

He warned the Minister of Public Works that he would have a lot of work in looking roads and trails, the trails especially, for the use of prospectors.

SEED GROWING IS DISCUSSED

G. A. Robinson Tells Gyo
Club of Thriving New Island Industry

Production of bulbs and flower seeds in British Columbia was discussed by George A. Robinson of Elk Lake, yesterday afternoon at the Gyo Club's luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Robinson remarked that while this Province was well known for timber, it was ideal for seed production. The long summer of long days, the dry growing season and the absence of climatic extremes, contributed towards the development of seed supply of any other area, he said. The largest British seedsmen had stated that the seed grown in this Province were the equal of any other area, and vastly superior to the product of the great majority of other seed growing districts.

TO SUPPLY CANADA

Mr. Robinson foresaw the day when British Columbia would provide the whole of the vegetable seed supply of Canada and enjoy a great export market for seed of vegetables suited to mild northern climates. Vancouver Island was supreme in production of flower seed but there were many areas of the Mainland, where certain vegetables attained superior quality.

EARN PREMIUM

The output of sweet pea seed of Vancouver Island had expanded greatly. Seedsmen paying fifty cents per pound premium above the price paid for California seed, said Mr. Robinson. The climate, kept down diseases of sweet peas, the set of seed was heavy, but the quality was supreme. Snapdragons, pansies, asters and stocks, led sixty species of flowers in ninety varieties now grown on Vancouver Island, many being extremely high priced, related Mr. Robinson.

Seed-growers suffered from lack of a central distributing organization, said the speaker. He believed that Vancouver Island growers did not sell Canadian seedmen $100 worth of seed in a year. The trade with British houses was expanding rapidly, however, with many firms now making inquiries.

PROTECTION WANTED

Telling of the development of the Bellingham bulb industry, Mr. Robinson urged that Canadian growers be accorded tariff protection. Vancouver Island can grow bulbs equal or superior to the Bellingham output, but that industry could never have started if it had not been for the protection accorded the young industry from Dutch importations. "I would advise Victoria gardeners to grow their own vegetable seed. Save a couple of carrots, turnips or other plants, let them seed. In a few years you will be surprised. You will yearly get enough superior seed for yourself and all your friends. Comparisons of imported seed with homegrown makes one laugh," he concluded.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Installation of the newly-elected officers will take place at the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening. Dinner will commence at 7 o'clock. The new officers will be installed by District Governor Bruce Abell of Vancouver.

NANCY PAGE MUSHROOM SOUP PLEASES ALL GUESTS ALWAYS

By Florence La Gankie

When Lois came out to the kitchen she found Nancy busy opening a can of something. "Why I thought you were going to have mushroom soup to-day, Nancy?" "So I am. But I use the canned mushroom broth. It saves all the work of cooking the mushrooms, it is clear and strongly flavored with mushroom. All I have to do is to heat it, thicken it with roux and add hot milk or cream. Here is my recipe. Heat one can of broth. Make a roux of three tablespoons of butter and flour. When bubbling add to hot soup and cook until thoroughly thickened. Set in the upper part of double boiler. In the meantime heat one cup top milk and one cup cream, or all cream. Add to the thickened broth and stir well. Season if needed."

Court Triumph, A.O.F.—The ladies of Court Triumph, A.O.F., have postponed their guest tea until further notice.

"But suppose you can't get mushroom broth, Nancy, what then?" "Then I'd buy a pound of fresh mushrooms, look them over, peel the tops if necessary. I'd take off stems and cook them in a small amount of boiling salted water. This broth will give flavor even though they are not used in the soup itself."

"The tops are sautéed in two tablespoons butter until they are soft enough to put through a sieve. To this puree is added two tablespoons flour. Two cups top milk and one of cream are added to the puree and the whole mixture is cooked until bubbling and then kept warm in the upper part of a double boiler. It is seasoned to taste with salt and pepper."

First Church Guild—The meeting of the Women's Guild of First United Church arranged for yesterday has been postponed until Friday at 3 o'clock.

Court Error Costs Cripple $15,000 Damage Award

Helen McLaughlin . . . lost a leg and $15,000.

defendants were named—a trucking company and a contractor for whom the trucking company was hauling bricks.

Justice Cropper erroneously dismissed the suit against the trucking concern and caused the contractor to be prosecuted, and the jury returned a verdict against the contractor, awarding Helen $15,000 judgment.

Now the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has ruled that the truckers and not the contractor should have been held liable, but the truckers now are out of reach of the law—all due to Justice Cropper's mistake.

"This court is powerless to save the infant plaintiff from this miscarriage of justice," the high court ruled, and administered a stinging rebuke to Judge Cropper.

But that didn't help Helen.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

LOSS OF APPETITE DUE TO TOO MUCH FOOD

With the memory of what the holiday is a buncle of observant mothers have gotten to do to our own appetites the mother has a better recognition of what happens to the baby or young child when he is constantly wheedled and coaxed into eating more than he really cares for. Some days, says the mother, baby will take six or seven ounces and on other days he will eat a very large potato or a second helping of anything and on other days he can barely eat the small portion first given to us. There isn't any difference except that we have gotten into the habit of allotting a child a certain portion of everything and we are tremendously upset when he refuses to do away with all of it.

Observant mothers have discovered that if the child takes too much cod liver oil for a lengthy period he loses his appetite. Others have noticed that when a child is fed a very rich cow's milk that he rebels against taking all that is given him or else refuses all other foods. These are two forms of fat which all mothers are familiar with. Some mothers have the ability to pick out cause and effect as readily as others, but it is a common observation that children fed quantities of rich food simply lose their appetites and eat little or nothing. Usually the over-feeding has gone on for a long period so that the child is big and fat and this bothers the mother even more for she is sure that he would be big and fat he ought to want more, instead of less to eat.

Another common appetite destroyer is a "coming" cold. Several days before the cold is noticeable children will "fall off" in their eating. Instead of insisting on more food the mother will wisely heed this symptom of something amiss and offer even less food. In fact that is the wisest rule of conduct when one is dealing with a loss of appetite. Instead of trying to force more food upon the child, lengthen the time between meals and offer less at a meal. For the child of two or more put half the usual portion on his plate. In this way the child still clears his plate, which is a good procedure and a good habit, and yet is in no way stuffed as he would be if he were being made to eat his full and usual portion of food.

In a few days these smaller portions of food will result in a better appetite. If over-feeding is at fault, and if the child is coming down with a cold or other childish ailments the lessened food intake will be all the better for him.

MISS GUERIN DIES IN EAST

Was Founder in 1910 of Catholic Women's League

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Miss Belle Guerin, founder of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, its first president, and for the past several years its honorary national president, died last night at her Montreal residence.

Miss Guerin had received honors from two Popes for her services to the church.

From the tiny gathering held at her home on the 19th immediately following the eucharistic convention in Montreal, she saw her vision materialize into an organization numbering over a hundred thousand women banded together under the motto of "For God and Canada," reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Under her inspiration she undertook welfare work for the poor and the sick and for the new-comer to the Dominion.

So I procured the simplest books possible on the subject, filled with pictures, and during an early evening hour we have readings about this most fascinating occupation.

A BRAND-NEW SPORT!

"Roller Tennis" Is Fast—But a Bit Bumpy

Pictured above is a fast foursome of roller-tennis at Miami Beach. It's lots of fun for those who can stay on their skates, but, as shown at the right, not everyone can. The pretty racketeer found she couldn't stop after a fast trip to the net.

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 29.—Tennis has taken to wheels to provide the fastest game in sports for southern winter resorts.

Wherever there are concrete courts, the game is being played on roller skates.

And wherever the game is played on roller skates, the players are attired in bathing suits. Thus are combined the most attractive features of three popular pastimes, although dives into the unyielding concrete scarcely can be considered pleasant for the participants.

The usual tennis rules are followed, but there are more spills and certainly more thrills in roller-tennis. An enterprising skating rink manager, seeking a novelty for the entertainment of winter refugees, hired four good tennis players who, also were good skaters, and the fun began. The result was a whirlwind of action and it quickly caught the interest of the public.

But amateurs who were proficient at tennis soon were painfully conscious of their lack of skating skill. Even good skaters found they needed a new technique for the charges and volleys and side-stepping of the net game. But the net result, in addition to a bumper crop of bruised knees, has been that roller-tennis seems destined to become a bona fide sport.

PLANS MADE FOR MOOSE
CONVENTIONOver 4,000 Members of Order Will Gather in Victoria Next June

The convention here of the Northwest Moose Association next June promises to be the largest affair of its kind ever held in the city and Victoria Lodge 1890, Loyal Order of Moose, realising the magnitude of the undertaking, is leaving nothing to chance in an effort to make it a success and to ensure the visitors, who will probably number 4,000, an enjoyable time.

Committees have been struck and meetings of the chairman of each, in conjunction with the executive officers have been held and plans are well under way. Dr. Chas. B. Moss, junior past dictator, has been chosen as general chairman, and the heads of other committees are as follows: Finance, Reg. Hayward; publicity, J. F. Pearce; entertainment, W. D. Taylor; music, W. A. Kotler; reservations, S. Taylor; decorations, H. W. Butler; reception, F. W. Zeigler; parade, C. E. Copeland. Other committees will be added as required.

The dates have been set by the local lodge for June 13, 14 and 15, subject to ratification by the executives of the association, who meet in Spokane next month. Convention headquarters likely will be at the Empress Hotel, where all sessions will be held.

Each organization will be met at the wharf or depot by the reception committee and paraded to their various hotels, and as several bands, drum corps, drill teams and ladies' outfits are expected, the sight will be impressive.

OPENING

If the dates set are in order, the opening session will be held in the morning of June 13, and will be participated in by all branches of the order. The anthems of both countries will be sung and the flags presented, and addresses of welcome will be rendered by government, city and local Moose officers and responded to by a prominent member of the order from each state and province represented, including Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia.

Sessions of the Northwest Association will be held at the Mooseheart Legion of the Northwest will be held simultaneously in the afternoon of Thursday and twice daily except Saturday, when the morning session will be the serious work of both to a close and enable other events scheduled to take place.

INITIATIONS

A ritualistic contest for men's lodges will take place on the first afternoon, separate from the session, for a valuable cup to be donated by Victoria Lodge, the winners of the contest, to have the great honor of initiating the large convention class of candidates now being recruited. Victoria Lodge inaugurated the ritualistic contest at the convention held here in 1923, and as the local degree team won the honor last year at Bellingham, they will not by courtesy compete in their home town.

Band contests will take place after the afternoon session of Friday and drum corps contests will follow. Both events will be open to the public, and will probably be staged in front of the Empress Hotel or the Parliament Buildings as on a previous occasion. These events are being looked forward to by several units at this time, and practices are being held continually. The winners of the band contest last year were Vancouver, B.C. Lodge, and they are sure to be in the limelight again. The drum corps contest was won by Tacoma Lodge.

Entertainment galore is planned for the visitors during their three-day stay, and will include a monster frolic on Friday evening and a ball on Saturday if present suggested arrangements hold good, and the usual "make dance" and parade by the visitors of the programme.

ELECTIONS

During the last session (Saturday morning), the officers for the coming year will be chosen, and it is expected that C. E. Copeland, D.D.S.D., will be elevated to the office of second vice-president, and that J. F. Pearce, district superior, and who has served the association as secretary-treasurer for the last four years, will again contest that office. The convention city for 1930 will also be selected at this time and rumor has it that Aberdeen, Wash., will make a bid for the honor.

On the afternoon of Saturday a huge parade with everyone present participating will be held through the principal streets of the city to a rendezvous to be selected, where drill team contests (male and female) will be staged, this being a very spectacular event. The drill team of Spokane Lodge Junior Order of Moose won the male contest and the ladies of Vancouver, B.C., the female event last year, the latter for the first time in history with the full award of 100 points. The convention official photo will be taken prior to the holding of these events.

The Northwest Association is the largest unit of its kind within the confines of the Loyal Order of Moose and the forerunner of several organizations of a like nature throughout the American continent where Moose are gathered together. There are 135 lodges within its jurisdiction with a combined total membership of about 38,000, and during the past four years the sum of $20,000 has been contributed by the members of these lodges for the erection of a boy's building at Mooseheart, the foundation stone of which will be laid this summer, and the members of the legion or second degree have also contributed a cottage for the old folks at Moosehaven. The Loyal Order of Moose is an International Fraternal Society with over 2,700 units throughout the civilized world, and in addition to this continent is firmly established in South Africa, Australia, France, Germany and Great Britain, and has over eighty lodges in the latter place at this time. The order stands for the universal brotherhood of man and takes into its fold the Protestant, Catholic and Jew, and while religious and political rights are fully recognized, questions of a political or sectarian nature find no place within its precincts.

The present membership in all branches is approximately 750,000 with assets of $32,159,285.97, and it is interesting to note that during the year $2,891,652.43 was paid out in sick and funeral benefits to its members. In addition to sick benefits, funeral benefits and doctor service the order maintains Mooseheart for the widows and children of departed Moose and Moosehaven, the home of the old folks, where man and wife are not separated in their old age.

At Mooseheart there are at this time about 1,500 children, and in a good many instances their mothers also reside there. Each child is given an education and a trade, and must graduate at the age of eighteen years with at least two degrees. The children are brought up in the faith of their father and are turned out in the world capable citizens with funds to establish themselves in business where necessary. The home of Moosehaven, Florida, takes care of the aged members, each man and wife living in their own cottage with some light occupation of their own choosing to occupy their minds. Although about 250 people are sheltered there, the place is self-supporting.

Shining-eyed and fresh for the hours that count

WHAT man is pleased at the sight of a tired-out wife . . . too borne-down with household duties to try to dress, too weary to look her best for his homecoming?

The women men adore are shining-eyed and fresh, eager for the hours that count.

More and more women to-day are finding a way to keep young, ten, twenty, even thirty years longer than their mothers.

The great strides of engineering and electrical science have developed marvelous labor-saving devices to relieve women of drudgery. Modern medical science is outwitting middle age by revolutionary discoveries in diet and care of the body.

But it is advertising that has aroused women to a realization of what these new household-helps can do. It is advertising that has brought a knowledge of beauty aids and their use. It is advertising that has created a desire for those products which aid women to lead healthier, happier, longer lives.

Always read the advertisements. Keep up with the ever-onward sweep of progress. Do not let yourself be left behind.

Vancouver Lions Hand Bucks Third Straight Defeat

Score 2-0 in Rough and Mediocre P.C.H.L. Game at Vancouver Last Night; Both Teams Missed Many Chances to Score; Portlanders Miss Presence of "Moose" Johnson; Twenty-eight Penalties Handed Out by Referee Ion; Sanderson and Somers Score Goals

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Vancouver Lions vanquished the Portland Buckaroos in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game here last night 2-0 in a mediocre display. The outstanding features of the contest were the number of chances to score passed up by both teams and the number of penalties meted out to the players by Referee Ion. Anything that looked bad was a signal for a visit to the side line. Thirteen times Vancouver players paraded to the penalty bench and ten times the Portland players.

The Bucks could not break up the local attack, which netted two goals. Portland, like Vancouver, had many opportunities to score but lacked the necessary finish.

MISS CHANCES

The Lions scored in the second and third periods and missed a score more chances in front of the net during the evening while both teams showed the lack of sharpshooting practice. Vancouver were full measure for their win and at times had Timmins in the Portland cage dizzy with their attacks, when the defence failed to function properly. This was partly due to absence of the veteran Moose Johnson, who watched the game in cities. Jacques, a spare, took his place, but too many enforced rests broke up the defence combination on many occasions.

SANDERSON SCORES

Sanderson got the first goal four minutes after the start of the second period with a shot from the boards. The visitors took the ice in the third period a man short and in 147 Somers had netted the second counter when Timmins batted out Phillips's shot to the waiting captain of the Lions.

The line-up was as follows: Vancouver—Jackson, Brennan, Jerwa, Phillips, Sanderson, Somers, McAdam, Cummings, Beattie and Arnot. Portland—Timmins, Jacques, McGoldrick, Teel, Conn, Downie, Semkowicz, Armstrong, Bond and Pratt. Referee—Ion.

Summary: First period—No score. Second period—1, Vancouver, Sanderson, 4:05. Third period—2, Vancouver, Somers, 1:47.

Penalties: First period—Cummings, McGoldrick, Jacques. Second period—Jacques (2), Brennan, Phillips (2), Conn, Jerwa, Pratt, Cummings, Armstrong. Third period—Phillips, Jerwa (2), Cummings, Jacques (2), Pratt, McAdam, Brennan, Cummings.

Bobby Gordon's two goals put H. A. Davie's Buicks into third place in the Garage Hockey League last night when his team sent the second place Dodge down to defeat by a 2-0 count.

Gordon scored once in the first period on an individual rush and again in the third catch for the only goals of the game. However, in the second frame Greenalade, Irving, Stobart and Butters staged many dangerous rushes, and was certainly a case of a team that Phillips played an excellent game in the losers' net.

George Motion, Buick's goalie, put up a stone-wall defence to all drives from the Dodge forwards.

Rowe Withdraws Hockey Protest

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Following a conference here yesterday with President Frank Patrick of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, Manager Rowe of the Portland Buckaroos announced that he has withdrawn his protest of last Friday's game in Seattle. The protest was made after the Buckaroos were left with only three men on the ice through major penalties. This is the first time this season any case has been developed and it was pointed out at yesterday's conference that the rules provide no substitute in the case of a major penalty until three minutes have elapsed.

Trail Cinches Hockey League

Nelson, Jan. 29.—Trail defeated Nelson 2-1 at Nelson last night to take a strangle hold on the West Kootenay Hockey leadership. Penalties were handed out thick and fast. Trail players serving a total of eighteen minutes, and Nelson players fifteen minutes. Deliberate slashing leading to fifteen minutes several times during the fray was a feature. The game was won in the final stanza, neither team scored in the first half in the second each tallied once. Trail's victory last night made it almost certain that Trail and Roseland will contest the league playoffs.

Lorne Chabot Is Given Souvenirs

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Lorne Chabot, goalie of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the N.H.L., was the recipient of a couple of souvenirs of his shutout of the Chicago Black Hawks Saturday night, his sixth of the season. Chabot turned back every effort of the visitors and in addition, Scott Griffin, one of the directors, presented him with a silver cup.

China Hoop Team Looks Pretty Good

Visiting Students Impress Railbirds in Fast Workout Yesterday

Meet Capitals To-morrow Night; Sons Play Keating in Preliminary

Those who were privileged to witness the short practice session of the Chinese basketball team held at the High School gymnasium last night, were greatly impressed with the speed, ball-handling and shooting of the different members of the team. Going through their paces under the guidance of Isaac Chen, their captain and coach, the Chinese showed plenty of basketball ability. With another light workout this evening, the visitors hope to be in the best of shape for their game with the Capitals to-morrow night.

The preliminary game will find the Sons of Canada opposing Keating in a regular league fixture. This game commences at 8 o'clock with the main attraction following immediately after. ALDERMAN ADAM OFFICIATES

"Scotty" Dowds, president of the Vancouver Island Basketball Association, announced to-day that Alderman James Adam will represent the city and toss up the first ball of the big game. Bob Whyte will referee, with Alex Main assisting.

Basketball fans who brave the elements to-morrow night will be well rewarded, for indications are that the feature game will be one of the fastest seen here in many months.

BOXING SHOW TO BE STAGED

Local Fighters Will Be Featured on Victoria Boxing Club's Programme

The first boxing show to be staged by the Victoria Boxing Club this year is to be held on Saturday, February 9, when a card of events consisting of two six-round main events and three four-round preliminary bouts will be put on.

It is the intention of the club to give local boys who have been appearing in preliminary roles in past promotions a chance to compete in the main bouts of this and future promotions. For their first programme the club has selected Tim Keist and Jumbo Davies for the top positions and these popular performers will be matched with two well-known outside-boxers over the six-round route.

Both fighters are now in great demand by out-of-town promoters. Jumbo Davies has been offered no less than five fights during the present month, but all of the offers were turned down. Keist is also in demand as offers have been made for his services for bouts in Vancouver and Port Angeles. Other club boxers who show well in preliminary bouts will be rewarded with main events later on.

The local fighters will resume their training to-night at the club's gymnasium at Victoria West. Any local boys who may have a desire to break into the game are requested to report at the gymnasium to-night or Thursday night as it is the intention of the club to stage a series of novice-competitions in the near future.

Stribling And Sharkey Start Handing Bouquets

Macon, Ga., Jan. 29.—Young Stribling and Jack Sharkey have flunked out of Gene Tunney's school of fistic courtesy, but have enriched the literature of fight ballyhoo with two telegrams.

When Sharkey met K.O. Christner last week, he got this from Stribling: "Don't let that big bum hit you on the chin. Save it for me at Miami."

While Stribling was on the receiving end of a noisy send-off by the home folks last night, this answer came from Jack: "No there'll be no answer until February 27," was Stribling's comment.

Herman was fighting a losing battle when he suddenly unleashed a terrific right hook that landed flush on Terris's jaw. The one-time lightweight contender went down like a log and was counted out after 22 seconds of fighting in the sixth round.

In the round, Herman had gone down for a count of nine after one of Terris's right-hand smashes caught him on the chin.

Strangely enough, it was that punch that turned the whole tide of battle to Herman. He got up off the floor and tore into Terris with a terrific assault that carried the New Yorker back to the ropes. Herman fished out with both hands and had Terris out on his feet at the bell.

As they came out for the sixth round Herman's wild overhand right connected and the former Ghetto idol had met his third knockout defeat in less than a year. Jimmy McLarnin and Ray Miller knocked him out in one round apiece last summer.

ELUSIVE TARGET

Terris took the first four rounds by wide margins. He was an elusive target and Herman could not find the range. It was only after he had been knocked down that Herman woke up and thereafter Terris did not have a chance.

RIGHT HOOK STOPS RUSH OF TERRIS

Former Lightweight Contender Is Knocked Out By Babe Herman in Sixth

Pacific Coast Slugger Stages Great Comeback; Toronto Boy Is Beaten

New York, Jan. 29.—The comeback aspirations of Sid Terris, once famed "Ghetto Ghost," came to an abrupt end last night when he was knocked out by Babe Herman, Pacific Coast slugger, in the sixth round of a ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas Arena.

Herman was fighting a losing battle when he suddenly unleashed a terrific right hook that landed flush on Terris's jaw. The one-time lightweight contender went down like a log and was counted out after 22 seconds of fighting in the sixth round.

In the round, Herman had gone down for a count of nine after one of Terris's right-hand smashes caught him on the chin.

Strangely enough, it was that punch that turned the whole tide of battle to Herman. He got up off the floor and tore into Terris with a terrific assault that carried the New Yorker back to the ropes. Herman fished out with both hands and had Terris out on his feet at the bell.

ELUSIVE TARGET

Terris took the first four rounds by wide margins. He was an elusive target and Herman could not find the range. It was only after he had been knocked down that Herman woke up and thereafter Terris did not have a chance.

Terris weighed 134½; Herman 134½. Jimmy McLarnin, 137½, New York, knocked out Eddie Shapiro, 139, also of New York, after 1 minute and 45 seconds of fighting in the third round of a ten-round semi-final.

Pattee Walker, Trenton, N.J., featherweight, outpointed Jackie Phillips of Toronto in another ten-rounder. The weights were: Walker 145½; Phillips 144½.

Nels Stewart Now Leading The Scorers

Has One-point Lead Over Irvin Bailey For Top Place in Canadian Section

Triple Tie Exists in American Group; Conacher Still Leads "Bad Men"

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Fies still abound among the leading scorers of the National Hockey League, for the games up to and including Sunday night, according to figures announced last night from the offices of President Frank Calder.

One tie has been broken, however, by furnishing the assists to both goals scored by Montreal Maroons in their defeat of Pittsburgh Pirates. Nels Stewart, centre of the Montreal club, drew away by a point from Irvin Bailey of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Stewart has scored fifteen goals and his assists number five for a total of twenty. Bailey is one behind. Hooley Smith, teammate of Stewart, is third with fifteen points.

A TRIPLE TIE Triple ties prevail for both first and second positions in the American division. Carson Cooper of Detroit and Bill Cook, fleet right winger of the champion Rangers, have each scored eleven goals and furnished six assists, while Frankie Boucher, centre of the Rangers, has just reversed the figures. There is a triple tie for second position also, the participants of this deadlock each having thirteen points. Welland, Boston Bruin centre, has scored eight goals and secured five assists. Harry Oliver of the same club and George Hay, Detroit left winger, are other players tied with Welland.

"CONNIE" BETTER

Although Americans engaged in two games during the week, Conacher still leads the single penalty. He still leads the so-called "bad men" however, with a total of ninety-one minutes, though Red Dutton, the turbulent rear-guard of Maroons, gained appreciably. Dutton spent twelve minutes on the bench during the week and brought his total up to eighty-one minutes.

With the Bowlers

Making six strikes and four spares, George Wilkinson, star maple amasher for the Quinnettes, yesterday hung up a new record in individual games, and aggregate scoring when his team sent the Dynamites down to defeat by the odd game in a Fivepin league fixture.

Wilkinson scored 321 points in the last encounter with his lowest score standing at 221 point. His aggregate was 810 points. In establishing this new mark Wilkinson broke the record of 668 pins which he rolled last week. The present champion now has an average of 231 points for nine games.

Victoria Baggage bowlers took two games from Stockers in the Commercial League fixture in what proved to be a mediocre encounter. Johnny Leatham, of the baggagemen, was high scorer with 201 and 516 points to his credit in the two classes.

Dick Irvin Quits Black Hawks; Is Returning Home

Toronto, Jan. 29.—The Globe, in its sporting comments to-day says: "Dick Irvin, clever centre player of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, will play no more hockey if he adheres to his present intentions. Disappointed with the Black Hawks for reasons not disclosed, Irvin left the team after Saturday night's game here with Toronto Maple Leafs and will return to his home in Regina, Sask."

Risk Training For His Fight With Schmeling

New York, Jan. 29.—Johnny Risko arrived here yesterday from Cleveland and lost no time embarking on a final programme of training in preparation for Friday night's bout with Max Schmeling, "the German Dempsey," at Madison Square Garden.

The Cleveland rubber man, who has not been quite so elastic as usual in losing recent decisions to Jimmy Mahoney and Ernie Schaaf, went directly to the Pioneer Sporting Club accompanied by manager, Danny Dunn, pit-boss, and Frank Lennon, Cleveland heavyweight. Risko and Lennon boxed four fast rounds. Meanwhile the word went abroad that Risko, disheartened with his present condition, had asked Jimmy's ex-forester, veteran handler, of boxers to supervise his final training.

Canadiens Get Big Chance To-night to Jump Over Leaders

After Splendid 1-0 Victory Over Rangers Last Night Flying Frenchmen Will Oppose Americans in Madison Square Garden and Win Will Give Them Leadership of International Section of N.H.L.; Toronto Will Meet Ottawa While Boston Will Oppose Chicago Hawks

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Montreal's Canadiens got off to a slow start this season and spent a lot of time near the bottom of the National Hockey League standing. At last they have their great opportunity to gain the top of the international group when they encounter the New York Rangers last night put them only one point behind the Americans.

A second international group game on to-night's schedule gives Toronto an opportunity to go into third place by beating the Ottawa Senators. The task does not look like an easy one as two of Ottawa's five victories this season have been at the expense of the Maple Leafs. Since their last victory over Toronto last night, the game was originally scheduled for January 8, but postponed until last night on account of Tex Rickard's funeral.

The speedy Rangers outthought an outburst the equally fast Canadiens, but they could not break through for a score. Montreal scored the winning goal late in the second period.

The line-ups were: Rangers—Roach, Abel, Bourque, Boucher, Bill Cook, Bun Cook, Murdoch, Thompson, Vail and Oatman. Canadiens—Hainesworth, S. Manthorpe, Lepine, Gagne, Joliat, Mondow, Moroz, Leduc, Patterson, Carson and G. Manthorpe.

Summary: First period—No score. Second period—1, Canadiens, Montreal, 17:35. Third period—No score.

Canadian Skating Championships To Be Decided Soon

Entry blanks will go out in the course of a few days for the annual amateur speed-skating championship of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, to be held February 15 and 16, at the new indoor regulation track that is now being operated in the mammoth Montreal baseball stadium. The championships will be under the auspices of the Stadium Skaters' organization of Montreal speed skaters, holding membership in the Quebec Skating Association.

The programme of championship events as it has been arranged by the committee comprises the 220 yard 440 yards, one-half mile, three-quarter mile, one mile and two mile events for seniors, with the customary championship medals in gold, silver and bronze going to the winners. In addition, there will be a single junior event, this being at one-half mile, with the junior skaters divided into eighteen-year, sixteen-year and fourteen-year classification with a race for each. Nor have the women skaters been entirely overlooked in the programme, there being a one-quarter and one-half mile event for those of the gentler sex. Entries will close on Monday night, February 11, with Walter E. Haggood, president of the Stadium Skaters, who is also general manager of the Montreal Exhibition Company Limited, operating the Stadium and in the summer month the Montreal baseball club in the International League.

A FINE TRACK

The new Stadium ice-track, operated as a popular-priced public skating rink is being laid daily by upwards of 1,000 Montreal skaters. The track is brilliantly illuminated with over 1,500 colored lights in addition to a dozen powerful 500-watt lights. The ice kept in perfect condition by a permanent staff of ice-makers and it will be lightning fast for the championship. Spectators will use the Stadium proper with its seating capacity of 25,000 watching the races, while warm dressing-rooms and showers will be provided for contestants.

JIM JEFFRIES

His Own Story

As Told to HUGH FULLERTON

CHAPTER XXIII (Continued)

Some time after that I took Fitz on a goose hunt. We killed about two hundred and eighty the first day, and thought we had broken a record, until the native who guided us was disappointed. The next day a north wind was blowing. We got into the shooting holes at three in the morning, and started shooting at daybreak, killing until we got tired.

Fitz was bombarding the birds from his hole, and missed every shot, while yelling at the top of his voice. Finally he started to lay down his gun. It slipped, and in grabbing for it, he discharged it. A great big goose, that must have weighed twenty pounds, was killed and in falling hit Fitz right on the head, knocking him down. I feared at first he had shot himself, but when I reached the hole, he was sitting up, rubbing his head and looking at the goose.

A FINE COMPANION

He was a queer and lovable companion, ready to laugh at any time, and a devoted friend. He had some strange ideas. One day, while we were training for Corbett, we were taking a run, which Fitz hated almost as much as he loved boxing, and we came across a huge snake. I wanted to kill it, but Fitz picked it up and carried it back to camp, making a pet of it. A few days later the snake laid eggs. Old Fitz took those eggs, put them in warm sawdust and tended them carefully, hoping to hatch them out, and he cared for that snake as if he loved it, threatening to bust any one on the jaw who tried to annoy it.

VIOLENT HATRED

His hatred for Corbett was violent. He did not talk of it, but every once in a while it cropped out. Corbett had hurt his feelings at Carson City by refusing to shake hands with him, but the enmity was older than that. Fitz had attended the fight between Corbett and Sullivan at New Orleans and, after Corbett won, a telegram came for Corbett. Fitz was starting to go to the dressing room to congratulate Corbett and offered to take the telegram. When he got there the door was locked, and climbing up he threw it over the transom and called congratulations to the new champion. Corbett said something which Fitz regarded as a deadly insult. He never forgave, and, when Corbett refused to shake hands with him, he became more and more bitter.

INTENSELY SENSITIVE

He was intensely sensitive, and had permitted his hatred of Corbett to make him more and more bitter. When we were boxing he would cut loose a terrific blow at me and say: “It ‘im that way, Jim!”

I always knew what he meant.

We went to Oakland about a week before the fight. I had determined to lose Corbett, and to show him that I could outbox him. I had worked three months to recover my speed and was in fine shape and the finishing off at the Heliance Club brought me into the ring in the best condition I had been since beating Sharkey. Neither Fitz nor Delaney wanted me to try to box with Corbett. Fitz wanted me to go out and ruin him in one punch and Delaney wanted a quick finish. I thought, however, it would be more of a triumph if I outboxed Corbett and showed him I was his master at that as well as at slugging than to knock him out quickly.

Jim always was a smart general, in and out of the ring, and an artist at irritating an opponent. There was a lot of argument as to the referee and I had to go to San Francisco three times trying to settle the matter. Neither of us would accept a man picked by the other. As a matter of fact I was determined all the time to force Corbett to name the man himself, because he had a way of forcing opponents to choose and providing an alibi in case a decision went against him.

On our third meeting Corbett said: “You don’t want to fight. You’re ducking. You’re afraid I’m going to lick you.”

“Just to show you how anxious I am to fight,” I said. “I’ll pick your brother Harry.”
Harry Corbett was sitting there. He jumped up and said:
“I can’t act, Jim—I’m his brother.”
“That makes no difference to me,” I said. “I know one thing: if you refuse you’ll give the right decision. That is how much confidence I have in your honesty.”
“Nothing doing: I won’t act,” said Harry.
“All right,” I said, “there’ll be no fight.”
I got up and started as if to leave.
“How would Eddie McGraney suit you?” asked Jim Corbett quickly.
“Fine,” I said.
Then I sat down and laughed, knowing that all the time both of us had wanted Graney, and each wanted the other to choose him.
Corbett was irritated when he realized I had beaten him at his own game, but he had to grin at the situation.

Graney was the third man in the ring that night. Each of us gave a reception, and looking across the ring, I saw there was nothing for me to fear from Corbett. He was not in the condition he had been at Carson Island, while I was much better. As I glanced across the ring I saw my old friend Tommy Ryan in Corbett’s corner. He had been working with Corbett and teaching him how to avoid my blows, and I grinned inwardly thinking what a surprise they would get when, instead of fighting as I had before, I started boxing.
I started boxing Corbett right from the first, and outboxing and at times outfooting him, and when I came back to the corner Fitz, who was handing me, said:
“Go out and knock ‘is block off, big fellow!”
“He was so eager for me to finish Corbett,” I had to laugh aloud.

In the second round I dropped into a crouch quickly and drove my left into Corbett’s body, dropping him for the count of nine. John’s A. I was really afraid he would not be able to get up, but he was up at nine and the bell rang a second later, so that he was saved.

BOXES CORBETT

In spite of the urging from my corner to go in and finish him I kept boxing Corbett, and when I had defeated him to the satisfaction of the crowd, but more to my own satisfaction, that I could outbox and outspeed him I decided to finish it.

Corbett was tired, and slowing down, and in the tenth I ripped my left to his stomach and he went down to be counted out.

That was Corbett’s last fight, the end of his great career. He showed that it was time for him to retire from the ring. He was much easier for me in that than he had been in the first fight, and I could have knocked him out almost at any time after the first round but for my desire to outbox him before his friends, and show that the blow at Coney Island had not been an accident.

URGE CONTROL OF BOXING IN OLD COUNTRY

Warning is Sounded About Growing Chaos in Sport on Continent Also

So far as title boxing matches, especially those involving Americans and Britishers are concerned, the fixing of dates in England is almost an impossibility. Such contests are on and off, and on and yet off again at such lightning rapidity that, for purpose of real information to those who follow the sport no more than a mere mention of their possibility or advisability by the critics appears to be of any value.

In some ways there is a growing chaos in what passes for the control of boxing in England and on the Continent,” says The London Times. “Clearly unless the British Boxing Board of Control both asserts and reorganizes itself there will be no end to the various self-appointed bodies that take upon themselves the often thankless task of deciding who is the champion and who is not. The answer to that question soon is likely to be entirely a matter for promoters unless a sufficient number of responsible sportsmen associate themselves in the establishment of a body comparable to the Jockey Club or Football Association or Rugby Union.

It is, however, fair to expect that among our properly accredited champions, Alex Ireland, at the middleweight, Johnny Hill at the flyweight, and Phil Scott at the heavyweight, will be given the chance to move up or down in the international estimate. Ireland has always been a clever fighter, but his recent victories over Tommy Milligan and Frank Moody have carried him somewhat unexpectedly and, one fears, rather too hastily, to the forefront of the boxing battle that nowadays goes on intermittently from Europe to the Americas and from South Africa to Scandinavia.

Before Ireland has any prospect of convincing his fellow countrymen that he has any serious chance of a match with Mickey Walker, for instance, he must assuredly will have to prove himself capable of beating both Jack Hood and Len Harvey. Here should be two fights well worth watching. There also is a fight between an Italian champion, to be accounted for.”

ENJOYS THE GAME

Walter Hagen wrote some time ago that George Von Elm was a hard opponent to encounter in a four-ball exhibition because George was always trying to win. Of course, Hagen tries to win also, but he probably enjoys the game more because he doesn’t work as hard as he would in a championship round. That is one reason he still has the ability to play round after round and day after day without going stale.

Before Ireland has any prospect of convincing his fellow countrymen that he has any serious chance of a match with Mickey Walker, for instance, he must assuredly will have to prove himself capable of beating both Jack Hood and Len Harvey. ## BIDS MADE FOR CITY SUPPLIES

City Buys Meter to Measure Wastage in Water Supply System

Cluster Lighting Plans For Crystal Garden Receive Council Support

Tenders for public supplies were opened by the City Council last night. In response to bids for fuel, food and general stores. Prices quoted for coal were from $7 to $7.50 a ton for slack, and from $10 to $10.50 a ton for other coal.

For cement the city was quoted a price of $2.80 per 100 pounds by Evans, Coleman and Evans. Fish was cited at a range of prices for a range of varieties in various bids. Milk was quoted at between thirty and thirty-six cents a gallon.

On sand and gravel the city got two bids, both at the same figure, $1.50 a cubic yard. Bread was cited at seven and a quarter cents a pound and six and two-thirds a pound, with buns at a flat rate of fifteen cents. A number of firms tendered on printing and stationery supplies. All supply bids were sent to committee for analysis and report.

Contracts awarded last night included the purchase of a Venturi meter for measuring the leakage in the city's water supply system at $2,779 delivered at the watershed. Clark Moorehead, Vancouver, agents for United States makers, secured the contract. The next lowest bid was by a Berlin, Germany firm through continental agents.

The council voted to sell five tons of scrap iron to the Northern Junk Company at $17.50 per ton, and 200 pounds of scrap brass to Ramsey and Adams at eight cents a pound.

SHIRINERS' HOME. The finance committee recommended two property sales for a total of $1,500, including lots or portions of lots on East Carroll Street, and Rock Bay Avenue, and also an exchange of the southwest corner of Caledonia Avenue and Cook Street, for Rockland Avenue property of equivalent value. The city land was wanted as the new home of the Mystic Shrine in Victoria. It was stated.

The finance committee also recommended the continuance of the monthly allowance of $125 to the radio station CFCF, and the acceptance of $4,500 from the British Columbia Electric Railway Company on account of its share of the cost of relaying 1,215 feet of water main on Hillside Avenue, damaged by electrolysis. All recommendations carried.

The council voted to apply to the Federal Government for a license for the seaplane base sit chosen at Dallas and Eric Streets, west of Raymur's Point in the Inner Harbor. When it was explained by Alderman W. T. Straith that this point had been adjudged suitable by the Jericho Beach air officers, and would likely be utilized by the civil aviation authorities in Canada. The site is within a five minute drive of the heart of the city, and if present plans carry the city will be aided in the erection of the necessary equipment at the site.

APPROVE LEASE. The council was on record as approving the application to the Federal Government by the Canadian Diatomite Company for a five-year lease of foreshore rights at Rock Bay, on the condition that active use is made of the property for the purpose of developing the industry here.

The Victoria West Brotherhood will be informed the city will endeavor to stop dumping along Tye Road, and will agree to a modified program of sidewalk and street improvements in the district on the usual terms. Work on Hereward Road, Wilson Street, and Alston Street was recommended on a conditional basis. The city will also put in a sidewalk on the west side of San Juan Avenue on a share basis with the property owners.

The council approved the plan to widen Broad Street by rounding corners at View and Fort Streets, at a total cost of $100.

NEW CLUSTER LIGHTS. The council referred to committee a plan to place cluster lighting along Douglas Street between the Empress Hotel and the Crystal Garden, and to generally improve the lighting in the area by double strength lights in standards on a basis where most of the cost would be borne by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The city is asked to agree to expend $300 to the expenditure of $3,000 by the railway company, and also to add the Blanshard Street lot recently taken by the city in exchange for Rockland Avenue property to the leasehold of the C.P.R. without additional cost.

The plan was approved by the 1928 committee in committee, and has secured the support of the majority of the present council. It was referred to the finance committee to permit aldermen not acquainted with the details to go over the matter.

Under the present arrangement the C.P.R. would bear nearly the full cost of installing some sixteen lamp standards with eighty lights, for the use of the additional lot in the Crystal Garden block, and the city's upkeep of the few additional lights.

The council voted $3,000 to the Jubilee Hospital in lieu of the usual monthly grant in pre-estimated days.

BITTER AND EGGS STAGE COME-BACK. City Council Agrees Its Action Last Monday Was in Haste and May Be in Error

Amending By-law Reinstating Sale of Butter and Eggs Ordered Prepared

Gracefully admitting that pressure towards a snap decision may have caused the City Council to practically reverse its stand on the sale of butter and eggs last night, and the preparation of an amending by-law, reinstating these two classes of dairy products for sale with other products after normal closing time on ordinary trading days.

The council was urged to this course by a straight forward petition from five of the leading dairy concerns of the city, which set up that the dairy business would be placed in an impossible position by the intended prohibition of butter and fresh eggs after normal hours. Large sums had been spent on refrigeration and all arrangements made to continue a sale that was a convenience to all concerned, recited the petition.

The petition was signed by the Northwestern Creamery, Vimpa Jersey Milk Limited, Royal Dairy Limited, Victoria City Dairy Limited and the Broadin Dairy.

The council had perhaps taken Alderman E. S. Woodward too literally when they assumed that he was representing all the merchants of the city, suggested Mayor Herbert Anson on the reading of the petition.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar said he agreed with the dairymen and moved the by-law be changed by an amending measure. Alderman James Adam concurred.

VICTORIA GETS FIRE RATE CUTS

B.C. Underwriters Meet City's Request For Substantial Cut in Rates

Reductions Amounting to 20 Per Cent Announced Through Mayor Anson

Recognition of the premier standing of Victoria in regard to fire prevention and control has been accorded to the capital city by the British Columbia Underwriters Association, Fire Branch, it was reported to the City Council last night by Mayor Herbert Anson. Cuts amounting to between eighteen and twenty per cent in some instances have been authorized by the underwriters, some taking effect as at January 1 last, and the remainder to be brought down shortly by the application of a new rating schedule on certain classes of risks.

The reductions came as a reply from the underwriters to the city's request for a general cut in rates, preferred by ex-Mayor J. C. Pendry and the City Council of 1928. Sharing particularly in the credit were the 1928 fire wardens who carried the brunt of the city's fight for the cuts, and who were Aldermen J. L. Mara, chairman; James Adam, ex-Alderman P. R. Brown, Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, who with ex-Mayor Pendry and Alderman E. S. Woodward met John Noble, British Columbia manager of the Fire Branch and other officials in a conference towards the close of last year.

UNDERWRITERS COMPLY. The first announcement as to the intended reductions was made to Mayor Herbert Anson, who followed Vancouver on Thursday of last week. This was confirmed in a letter to the mayor last night from Douglas A. S. McGregor, Vancouver Island executive of the Fire Underwriters.

The detail of the reductions is as follows: Within the city limits of Victoria all exterior exposure charges from dwellings will be removed, effective January 1, 1929. The maximum rate for dwellings and contents which will now be eighty cents per $100 for three years, as compared with the former maximum rate of $1.00 per $100 for three years. This means a total reduction of about twenty per cent, and will also benefit apartment blocks and mercantile risks.

Also a new schedule is now being prepared and will shortly be put into effect in Victoria restoring the fire rating of class A buildings both as to buildings and contents, with a reduction of between eighteen and twenty per cent promised. This rating will apply to buildings such as the Hudson's Bay Company premises, the Belmont Block, and other Class A fire relative structures. It was explained by Alderman J. L. Mara.

The council received the report with gratification, and will study the new scale at its leisure.

Happy Valley Mrs. R. Brown, "Mandalay," is visiting in Victoria, the guest of Mrs. R. J. Shanks, Holmes Street, Victoria.

Mrs. S. Hutchinson, who has been a patient for some weeks at St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, has returned home.

An appreciative audience on Thursday evening enjoyed the concert given by pupils of the Reformed Episcopal Sunday School, under whose supervision the children were trained, were warmly congratulated. Wants Consumption Made Occupational Disease For Compensation

What the opportunity of building up homes and earning their daily bread, and not promises, declared E. C. Carson, member for Lillooet, and the youngest member of the House, in his maiden speech in the Legislature on Monday.

"Much has been heard of the famous freight rates case of the last Government, and I am sure that the Liberals would have fared better had they started their fight for lower rates closer at home."

Heapped T. D. Pattullo, Opposition Leader for his having asked the other day what further information was required by the Government on the resources of the country traversed by the P.O.R. other than that which was on file. If, argued Mr. Carson, this information was complete, why had not the Liberal administration done something to assist in the solution of the problems of lack of development and tonnage?

AID FOR MINERS. Mr. Carson made an eloquent plea for the inclusion as an occupational disease which would be given compensation, miners' consumption. He pictured the life of the miner underground and insisted that miners' consumption was a hazard of the calling that was worthy of consideration.

"On the broader question of pecuniary compensation," he went on, "for all classes of workers, I am strongly of the opinion that the percentage of earnings on which is based the amount of compensation payable under the Workmen's Compensation Act should be raised to at least 65 per cent, or, if possible, 70 per cent. While I have made specific reference to miners' consumption, which is not covered by the provisions of the act, it is hardly necessary for me to state that I hold no brief for any one class of worker, coming as I do from a constituency of such diversified resources and occupations."

POCKET SCARF. A grey tweed coat has a scarf collar with ear-shaped end that rounds the neck and hangs slightly below the waist. Its ear-shaped end has a round pocket that buttons shut.

MEDIUM HEELS. Street shoes are favoring lower heels than Summer sandals showed. The medium heel of fair proportions, is a great and sensible favorite. Skill in shoe craft makes this heel very smart

Good-Bye Corn! Lifts Right Off—No Pain

Don't miss one bit. Loop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and corn between the toes, and the foot calms, without soreness or irritation.

DR. F. BENNETT URGES SUPPORT OF GARDEN PLAN

Well-known St. Thomas Horticulturist Heard By Kiwanis Club To-day

Dr. Frank Bennett, well-known Canadian horticulturist of St. Thomas, Ontario, gave an interesting address to the Kiwanis Club to-day on the measures taken by St. Thomas to promote the beautification of that city. Dr. Bennett pointed out what Victoria could do to still further enhance its beauty.

In St. Thomas between $18,000 and $20,000 a year was spent of the budget supported by the horticulturists in the "City Beautiful," and an active roll of 2,600 members took an interest in the work. In a few years St. Thomas had been turned from a waste and area of railway tracks into one of the most beautiful garden cities of Canada, the speaker said. Victoria had an excellent start on the same road, and could not do better than to follow the horticulturists, he said.

Dr. Bennett was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his instructive talk.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES ASK LEGISLATION

Qualification and Estimates Suggestions Before Municipal Committee

Two requests from New Westminster School Board were dealt with by the municipal committee of the B.C. Legislature this morning. One urged that February 15 was too early a date for school boards to be required to have their annual estimates ready for the council. Members of the committee said councils did not usually hold trustee boards to the strict letter of the law and it was decided action was not necessary unless the complain was more general.

New Westminster also pointed out that school trustees were subject to disqualification if they were companies which they held stock did business with this board. Mayors and aldermen were not subject to this disqualification and the trustees asked that they be lifted from the list of disqualified persons. The committee approved the principle and forwarded its resolution to the Minister of Education.

Deputations having representations to lay before the Legislature a municipal committee must meet the committee before February 19. It was decided that after all requests have been received, the committee might retain the right to force the Attorney-General in time for legislation to be prepared and acted upon at the present session.

The executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities will appear before the committee on February 5 and meetings will be held daily, if necessary for the next two weeks to hear the views of any public body having business to bring forward.

Roof Strain Is Subject Of Warning

Dangerous loads of 22 pounds a cubic foot may be collected on roof tops if snow is not cleared off before rain falls, it is stated by James Barr, City Building Inspector, in a general warning to house and building owners this morning. The ordinary light snow as it falls weighs in the neighborhood of 11 pounds a cubic foot. If this becomes rain-soaked the weight may be treated more than doubled. Some roofs are not designed to meet this weight, to say nothing of the inconveniences of large run-offs of water, points out Mr. Barr. Flat-topped roofs particularly should be kept clear.

SNOW MUST BE CLEARED FROM HOUSE FRONTS

All householders in the city, besides the storekeepers in the downtown sections, must keep the sidewalk in front of their homes free of snow, cleared by Police John Fry stated this morning, commenting upon the situation which has arisen as a result of the snowfall during the last few days. In several of the outlying districts a number of the residents have faithfully kept the walk in front of their houses clear but a number have not and pedestrian traffic is affected by the snow patches which occur here and there.

DOUGHBOBORS IN COURT CENTRE OF MUCH INTEREST

Trials Follow Arrest of Ten of Sect By B.C. Police at Grand Forks

Grand Forks, B.C., Jan. 29.—There was much interest here this morning as resumption of the trial of the Doughbobs arrested yesterday was awaited.

Following the arrests of the ten members of the Sons of Freedom sect, eight of them appeared yesterday before Justices of the Peace John Hutton and John Donaldson on summary trial for obstructing provincial police officers in the performance of their duty.

Paul Allistoff, one of the three sought last Thursday, when police were driven from the ranch house, was arrested Sunday night when boarding a train for Brilliant. He is from California.

The three leaders will be tried in Nelson.

The arrests of the ten Doughbobs were made at their colony near Grand Forks yesterday after a wild melee in which provincial police had to use considerable force to tear the sect from the building.

The sect, known as the Sons of Freedom, had been in the building for some time, and the naked leader of the fanatics had to be dragged outside the building into the snow. Two of the arrests were made in connection with the trial of the sect, which was held in the morning.

FINE WINDOWS TO BE PLACED IN CATHEDRAL

Excellent Subjects Will Lend Historical Value to Stained Glass Scheme in Building

As further details are learned of the twenty-seven stained glass windows now being prepared for the new Christ Church Cathedral, it becomes more evident that the year in which the seventieth anniversary of the mother diocese of British Columbia is being observed will be remembered for many years hence. Admission will be directed to the religious and educational values of the windows as much as to the generosity of the donors. The knowledge that the Cathedral will be open daily throughout the year as a place of worship to the public, adds to the value of the gifts, as they will be enshrined in a building where citizens and visitors alike may see them, and learn to appreciate their beauty and message.

Among the subjects to be designed specially for young children, as there will be others whose wealth of symbolism can be fully understood only by persons of mature religious knowledge and experience. The gifts of individuals or families, a few are being given by organized groups or societies, while the majority of the windows will be the contribution of public children, young people and of public subscriptions and gifts in support of their efforts, such as the Seventieth Anniversary Exhibition and Bazaar, to be held from February 4 to 9.

A THOUGHTFUL SCHEME

That much careful thought has been given to a complete scheme for all the windows in the Cathedral is obvious from the subjects already announced of the windows in the north and south aisles, the baptistry and the west front.

A feature of the general plan is the effort to include in the designs, illustrations of the present-day life, work and needs of people in British Columbia. At the same time, history and continuity is preserved by drawing on the long heritage of the church, with its early and medieval saints and heroes, for the principal subjects and figures.

For teachers and students, in week-day schools or Sunday Schools; for the clergy, church people and all readers of the Scriptures and religious history, the windows will be full of interest. The few specialties of the Lord Christ, and their work, will become better known by those who study the twelve windows in the north aisle. Of added local interest is the announcement that, following an old privilege allowed to craftsmen in stained glass, the figure of St. Matthew will be shown holding in his hand a model of the first Christ Church Cathedral. This will commemorate the fact that the first Bishop of the Diocese was consecrated on St. Matthew's Day in the year 1859.

HISTORICAL VALUE

In the windows of the south aisle will be found the other evangelists, St. Mark and St. Luke, and also St. Jerome, famous for his translation of the Bible into the version known as the Vulgate which continued to be the authorized version of the Western church until the sixteenth century. St. Gregory will follow, an old who sent missionaries to Britain in the sixth century to revive Christianity in that land, and Theodore, the great scholar of the University of Turin, who instituted the parish system during his term as Archbishop of Canterbury, and organized a United Church of England 150 years before the separate kingdoms of the Heptarchy were united under one king.

The ancient northern use of York will be represented by Wilfrid, its founder. In that part of the cathedral that is now being built, the available window space gives room for only one figure of the Reformation period, Archbishop Cranmer and Archbishop Laud.

The three baptistry windows on the south side are designed to be of special interest to those who are primarily in their position overlooking the Straits where the waters flow past the shores of another country and into the vast Pacific, the subject chosen for these windows is "Christ and the Children of the World."

In the windows of the west front, including the rose window, will be pictured glimpses of some of the visions described in the Book of Revelation.

Thus to the student of the Scriptures, of art and architecture, of history, literature and biography, or religious education and missionary adventures, the new Christ Church Cathedral will be full of interest. Its walls and windows, pillars and arches, its furniture and equipment, are designed to remind all of the presence of God in the world of men and things, and of the purpose of God for the peace of the world and men's highest and fullest welfare.

GIFT EXPLAINED BY EVANGELIST

Aimee McPherson Tells California Legislators About $2,500 Donation to Jude

Los Angeles, Jan. 29.—Aimee Semple McPherson, celebrated pastor of the Angels Temple here, to-day had smilingly checked all efforts of a special committee of the California Legislature to revive her story of her kidnapping, subsequent escape from her captors and trek across the burning desert sands to Douglas, Ariz., in 1928. A happy witness before the five solemn Assemblies, the bronze-haired chief exponent of the Four-Square Gospel gave a new characterization to the $2,500 cash gift paid out to Superior Judge Jardy, who is threatened with impeachment proceedings for accepting it. The money was "a love offering," Mrs. McPherson testified.

"I said it was not a part of the 'Fight the Devil' fund which her congregation had raised to defend her against the charges of subornation of perjury and conspiracy to obstruct justice."

THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

By DAVID LYALL

"The hospital which takes infectious diseases, you know—scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria—we get a lot of the last-named here. There is a tiny stream, the Forder, running into the lake, a mere stagnant, unhealthy ditch, that was clearing out or filling, but Mrs. Manning says it is the most picturesque feature of the village, and won't have it touched."

A queer look settled on Manning's face. "The housing conditions leave a good deal to be desired," he said as he closed the little book. "And we have forty unoccupied bedrooms up at the Hall. I have a very good mind to invite the villagers up to sleep while we overhaul their cottages."

"You will have to wait till Mrs. Manning leaves Mardocks. It would kill her," said Mary on the spur of the moment. "She hates anything to be touched or changed. She is the living embodiment of the old order."

"Which is going to must go if Mardocks is its fruit," said Manning. "Don't get up yet, unless I am keeping you too long."

"I have been late every night in getting home, and my people don't like it."

"I don't expect they do. Please tell them from me, to-night, not to grudge you to Mardocks. It needs you and possibly will not be able to carry on without you. I want to talk more about the housing problem."

"The Vicar is the man you ought to see. There isn't anything about Mardocks he doesn't know. You see, the people love him and talk freely to him."

"Doesn't he champion their cause, then?" asked Manning interestedly.

"The question showed how difficult, almost impossible, he found it to realize the feudal conditions existing in Mardocks. He had come from a great wide land, where his job was the administration of justice to elemental people. He had carried with him the traditions and the practice of British justice and fair play, which is everywhere in the wide world acknowledged to be the best, and now, here, in the depths of the green English country, he discovered injustice and tyranny of the most flagrant kind, all the more objectionable and criminal in that the administration was handled with a velvet glove."

"When Mary began to button up her raincoat, he, too, rose somewhat heavily from his chair. He had the air of an oppressed man, but his eyes showed determination to throw off the yoke."

"I will see the Vicar perhaps to-day. Would it be likely to find him in now?"

"Probably about tea-time. Yes, I think you would."

"And you have promised not to desert Mardocks, Miss Freeland? I shall need allies in the new crusade. From all I can learn you would be the safest and the most popular."

"I brought love to Mardocks, Major Manning. It is so simple if you set the right way about to get on with the people. They don't ask much after all—I mean simple people like the villagers here," she added hastily, the complications of her own life being up before her. "It is peace to live they want, and that, after all, is the first essential of happiness, isn't it?"

Manning did not answer, but his eyes were fixed on her with an inward determination to throw off the yoke."

"She smiled a little, her color heightened, and her face became very sweet."

"Oh, thank you!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "Are you and your snow men?"

"Oh, yes, and your snow men!" laughed Mrs. Longears. "Seems to me you could find something better to do than playing in the snow."

STATION NOTES

SUNSET HOUR
The Sunset Trio, playing for the entertainment of radio fans this evening, will open their hour with an operatic selection from The Tales of Hoffman. The vocal soloist on the programme will be followed by Paderewski's famous "Minuet." The Grand March from "Aida" will follow, and a suite of MacDowell's "Woodland Sketches" will also be included. CFCT will also be the medium for bringing "Dance Characteristics" by Tchaikowsky, and Hoffman's "Dance" from "Gipsy Suite," to the homes of radio listeners.

MUSIC AND HOCKEY GAME
From 7:30 to 8 o'clock a programme of dance music will be broadcast from the Empress Hotel. Shortly before half past eight the microphones will be placed in the arena and will bring to the homes of radio and hockey devotees a running story of the Victoria-Portland hockey game to-night. CFCT's activities for this evening will close with an hour of dance music from the Crystal Garden from 11 o'clock to midnight.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER TO BROADCAST
Two consecutive hours of Eastern radio programmes will be released on the Pacific Coast by stations of the ABC Network this evening between 7 and 9 o'clock, Pacific Standard Time. The first hour will feature artist pupils of the famous Curtis Institute of Music in a programme of classical music.

Agnes Davis, winner of the Curtis scholarship this year and the Atwater Kent audition contest in 1927, will be the featured entertainer on the Curtis Institute programme. Her programme will include four Russian songs, one by Rachmaninoff and three by Alexander Gretchaninoff and will conclude with "Ein Traum" and Brahms' "Wiegengesang."

In addition, the Swastika String Quartette will render Schumann's "Piano Quintet" in E Flat Major and two sketches for string quartette based on Indian themes by Charles T. Griffes.

The second hour will feature Wendall Hall, the "Red-headed Music Maker," and Wrigley's Royal Canadians, under the direction of Guy Lombardo, well-known Eastern dance leader.

Wendall Hall might well be called the pioneer of radio history. He made the first radio tour in the history of broadcasting, received the first advertising contract in radio history, was the first Victor recording artist to broadcast and was the first to be married via the air.

Wendall Hall, with his magic ukulele and crooning songs, and Lombardo and his famous orchestra promise an hour of rare entertainment.

This broadcast will be released on the Pacific Coast through stations of the ABC Network, including KJL, Seattle; KEX, Portland; KGO, Spokane; KJL, Los Angeles, and KMTS, Hollywood.

GRAND SYMPHONY CONCERT
Overture to "Tannhauser," Wagner's dramatic opera, will be the opening selection of the American Philharmonic Orchestra, a thirty-piece orchestra composed of outstanding artists of the Pacific Coast under the direction of Francesco Longo, when they play an hour's concert of classical music over stations of the ABC Pacific Coast Network this evening between 10 and 11 o'clock, Pacific Standard Time.

Richard Wagner has been called "the greatest and most original dramatic composer of all times," and in his overture to "Tannhauser" his dramatic ability and originality is depicted at its best.

Kolia Levienne, noted Russian "cellist," will be featured as soloist on the programme. This evening, playing "Phantasia," a composition by Davidoff, Mr. Levienne is recognized as one of the foremost "cellists" of the United States and is widely known as a teacher and concert "cellist." A graduate of the Petrograd Imperial Conservatory, Mr. Levienne came to the United States after enjoying exceptional success in Europe. His reception in this country was of the best and his concert appearances throughout the country gained him almost immediate recognition.

This broadcast will be released by KJL, Seattle; KEX, Portland; KGO, Spokane; KJL, Los Angeles, and KMTS, Hollywood, members of the ABC Network.

EVEREADY HOUR
The Eveready Hour will be broadcast through a coast-to-coast network of NBC system stations to-night from 6 to 7 o'clock, Pacific Standard Time. Complete details of this programme will be released by the Eveready Hour, room 1341, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Pacific Coast stations KJL, Spokane; KJL, Seattle; KEX, Portland; KGO, Oakland; KJL, Los Angeles, and KMTS, Hollywood, will broadcast the Eveready Hour.

Clicquot Club Eskimos
With the Eskimo Chamber of Commerce holding a meeting in "Igloo-ville" during the programme, the Clicquot Club Eskimos will offer their nation-wide audience not only entertainment when they broadcast, through NBC system stations to-night from 7 to 8 o'clock, Pacific Standard Time.

Three of the Eskimos will state their views in a group of solo offerings—the pianist with "Snowflakes," the xylophonist with "Tall Timber," while the bass singer will tell his tale with "The Coal Miner's Blues."

In a unique number Harry Reser, leader of the Clicquot Club Eskimos, will explain the "Origin of the Eskimo Song."

Honoring girls named Mary with a medley of three song hits, the Freshman Orchestrations will be heard in a nation-wide broadcast through NBC system stations from 7:30 to 8 o'clock to-night, Pacific Standard Time. "Make Believe Mary" from Coward's "This Year of Grace," "Mary Lou" and "Mary Ann" will be played by the thirty-five Orchestrations under Hugo Marietti's direction as one of the features of the half hour.

Carlton Boxill will be the vocal soloist during this programme. He is to sing two new numbers—"I'll Never Ask for More" and "I Must Love You," the

U.S. NAVY BILL DIVIDES SENATE

Administration's Cruiser Building Programme Meets Opposition

Washington, Jan. 28. (By Francis G. Aldrich, Staff Writer of the Canadian Press)—Opposition to the Government's naval building programme continued in the Senate yesterday.

Supporters of the bill failed to get unanimous consent earlier today to close to bring on a vote this week and the next move probably will be to bring on night sessions and tire out the filibusters.

President Coolidge is bitterly disappointed over the opposition to his bill and to the action of the Senate in refusing to take out the specified time limit in which the cruisers must be built.

The bill as passed by the House last session calls for construction of five light cruisers in each of the fiscal years, 1929, 1930 and 1931, the cost not to exceed $17,000,000 each. In addition an aircraft carrier, cost $18,000,000, would be built this year.

TIME QUESTION
President Coolidge has changed his mind about the time limit since last year, and now wants it left to the discretion of the Government as to how fast the ships should be launched.

Mr. Coolidge pointed out it was useless to have the cruisers bunched and have them all becoming obsolete about the same time and also pleaded the necessity of economy.

WALSH'S VIEWS
Senator Walsh of Montana changed his attitude on cruiser construction yesterday and came out in emphatic opposition to the bill. He could not see a remote chance of war with Britain or Japan, and the cruisers could not be used for anything else.

SHIPPING DURING WAR
At the outset he was questioned from all sides about freedom of the seas. Several senators asked if Britain had not interfered with United States shipping during the earlier days of the World War and if it was not implied that Britain would do the same again.

Senator Walsh said the United States had co-operated with Britain in nearly every drive against neutral shipping and the United States had refused clearance to her own citizens when cargoes obviously were intended for belligerent ports.

He believed negotiations for reduction of armaments could not be successful if the United States went on building ships.

If Britain contemplated an attack on the United States, Britain would not leave the Canadian boundary unguarded, he said.

Senator Shipstead of Minnesota wanted to know if Canada would be involved in the event of war between Britain and the United States.

"Of course," replied Senator Walsh. Senator Walsh said that with 120,000,000 people on this side of the Canadian-United States line and only 10,000,000 on the other side, he thought the people of the United States were not immediately menaced.

Smart Doings Of Animals

Crafty Fox Captures Duck by Stratagem

A fox was seen stalking some ducks which were swimming in a broad stream in Canada. However, although he longed to feast off them, he could not at first figure out a way to make a capture. He could not catch them swimming and there was no way, apparently, to surprise them from the bank.

Finally the fox saw a leafy branch floating down stream near the shore. He slipped behind the branch and waited for the ducks to drift toward the ducks. They suspected nothing until the crafty fox, darting from cover, seized one of them and took it ashore for a hearty meal.

DOG PROVIDES MURDER CLUE

Finds Valise Which May Indicate Killer of Seaman at Hoboken, N.J.

Hoboken, N.J., Jan. 28.—A large brown dog provided the only clue to the murder of an unidentified seaman whose body was found with a 45 calibre bullet in the breast here yesterday.

The dog, owned by Wm. Cassidy, a night watchman, dragged a tan-leather valise through the street and deposited it proudly at his master's feet. The bag contained a woman's purse in which there was an envelope bearing the name of a woman. The dog had not divulged the name of the woman, but she is believed by them to have been used to lure the seaman to his death.

The magister dressed like a seaman. He was about thirty-five years old, 130 pounds, six feet tall and was a cripple.

Police recognized him in several snapshots found on his person, some of which showed "Eastie."

One picture in particular which attracted the attention of the officers was a picture of a ship moored in the ice. The slain man was shown in the picture and the name "Canadian Raider" was visible on the bow of the ship.

KNOWN AT HALIFAX
Halifax, N.S., Jan. 28.—The seaman whose body was found at Hoboken, N.J., yesterday was identified here as "Scotty" Johnson, or Johnston, who was formerly in the British army and came here three years ago. Identification was made by a picture found on the body.

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY BOBCK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The giant still stood right up straight, and Scouty shouted, "Say, that's great. You surely are a real strong man, but now your house is gone. You spoiled it when you lifted it, and we don't like that one wee bit. It will not be much fun for you to sleep out on the lawn."

"Ha, ha," the giant laughed. "Hee, hee! Don't start to worry over me. Why I can fix this house up fine, with hammers, nails and such. Right now, of course, it looks real bad, but it won't turn out quite so sad. The small repairs will take an hour, and won't amount to much."

"You're very kind, it seems to me," said Scouty. "And you've set us free. You know that we appreciate this kindly thing you've done. And now, I have a plan in mind. I'll prove that we are also kind. We're going to help you fix your house. That ought to be real fun."

This made the friendly giant grin. "All right, said he, 'we'll all begin by driving little nails in where the frame came from the floor.' He handed little hammers round. The Tiniest dropped down on the ground, and soon the merry little bunch were all at work once more."

Just as they finished with their task, the giant whispered, "All I ask is that you all be quiet. All the Trouble Tots are near. Perhaps you do not think I should, but I am going to spank them good for playing tricks on us. I think they'll soon be here."

The giant and the Tiniest then were all real quiet once again. The Trouble Tots came sneaking up. The giant's chance was grand. He jumped right out and shouted, "Hey!" and ere the queer tots ran away, he pounced upon them very quick and seized them in his hand.

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1929

As the month draws to a close the stars radiate benefic influences, according to astrology. The early morning, however, is a time for caution. This is a day when women will be inclined to insist on special privileges, and to be aggressive in business affairs, it is announced. While the planetary government seems to favor women's ambitions, it may present embarrassment to men or corporations dealing with them.

This should be a lucky wedding day, and especially fortunate for brides who may expect to exercise much influence in the family financial affairs. Theatres now should profit, and there is indication of great popularity for new stars of the stage. Traveling may be subject to many delays and annoyances under this direction of the stars. Ocean voyages may be fraught with unusual perils. Temptation to exaggerate or even to deceive may be strong to-day when the desire to make good representations may lead to frauds, especially in stock sales. Again the seers warn against speculation on the part of persons who cannot afford to lose their money. There is a most threatening sign for all chance enterprises.

While this configuration prevails, the impulse to gamble in every way will be strong, and it will affect old and young alike. American Monte Carlos will flourish for a time next summer if the stars are rightly interpreted. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of new experiences and novel ambitions for the coming year. The temptation to indulge in romance may be strong.

Children born on this day probably will be extraordinarily attractive, and for that reason in danger of being spoiled. Those subjects of Aquarius often reveal contradictory traits. They are brave, independent and forceful, but they may be much interested in dress and in smart modes. Many choose careers that keep them before the public.

CHANGES MADE IN TRAIN LINES

C.P.R. Uses Temporary Routes Following Accidents in Mountain Region

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—When a Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive plunged through a bridge at Cutback, east of Glacier, B.C., yesterday morning, killing two employees, the British Columbia division of the railway suffered the most serious interruption of its traffic in many years. The bridge, which was on the main line, and as it will take several days to repair the damage, the scheduled running times of passenger trains has had to be revised. In fact, it will be a day or two before the company is able to arrange a regular schedule.

Yesterday the company detoured its east and west-bound trains over the Canadian National, but starting today, all trains are being operated over the Kettle Valley and through the Crow's Nest Pass. Trains Nos. 3 and 4, known as the Toronto Express, are being operated as locals between Vancouver and Revelstoke and all transcontinental passenger trains will be sent out on No. 2 train. That train will be run over the Kettle Valley by way of Nelson to Procter, where a special steamer will carry the passengers to Kootenay Landing. At Kootenay Landing other railway equipment will be waiting for the journey eastward.

TRAIN DELAYED A DAY

The train was delayed by the freight train collision which occurred Sunday afternoon at Revelstoke, in which two transcontinental passenger trains were killed.
